

ENGLISH SYLLABUS

UPPER SECONDARY SCHOOL

(S4–S6)

Copyright 2026
Rwanda Education Board

All rights reserved

This syllabus is the property of Rwanda Education Board, Credit must be provided to the author and source of the document when the content is quoted.

FOREWORD

The Rwanda Basic Education Board (REB) is honoured to present the second edition of the upper Secondary School English syllabus (S4–S6). It serves as an official guide for competence-based teaching and learning, ensuring consistency in delivering quality education across the country. Developed collaboratively by subject specialists, educators, and curriculum developers, it supports the implementation of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) and reflects Rwanda's commitment to nurturing students' knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes.

Quality education is the foundation of Rwanda's sustainable development and prosperity. Aligned with the national education philosophy, this syllabus promotes critical thinking, creativity, inclusiveness, and holistic student development. It aims to empower young people with competencies necessary to achieve full potential, equipping them with relevant knowledge, skills, the right attitudes and values to integrate effectively into society and pursue opportunities in a competitive world.

Anchored in Rwanda Vision 2050 and the National Strategy for Transformation (NST2), this syllabus supports the nation's goal of building a knowledge-based economy driven by innovation, resilience, and global competitiveness. It prioritizes student-centred pedagogy, active learning, and the practical application of knowledge to prepare student not only for academic success but also to become responsible, ethical, and productive citizens capable of contributing to Rwanda's continued transformation.

This syllabus reflects our determination to equip students with 21st-century skills, foster innovation, and in still values of integrity, social responsibility, and lifelong learning. Its success depends largely on the dedication and professionalism of teachers and school leaders. We therefore call upon all educators to embrace the approaches, methodologies, and assessment strategies outlined herein with commitment and passion, transforming classrooms into dynamic spaces of curiosity, creativity, and inspiration.

On behalf of REB, I extend my heartfelt appreciation to all who contributed to the development of this syllabus. Your expertise and dedication have been instrumental in shaping a curriculum that responds to the needs of our students and supports Rwanda's national aspirations.

Together, we can ensure that education continues to be a powerful driver of our nation's development and prosperity.

Dr. MBARUSHIMANA Nelson

Director General, REB

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The development of this syllabus has been a collective effort that reflects the dedication, expertise, and commitment of many stakeholders. On behalf of the Curriculum, Teaching and Learning Resources Department of the Rwanda Basic Education Board (REB), I wish to express my deepest appreciation to all who contributed to the successful preparation of this Upper Secondary school English syllabus (S4–S6).

Special thanks go to the subject experts, curriculum developers, teachers, and education partners whose insights, feedback, and professional contributions have been invaluable in shaping this syllabus. Your collaboration has ensured that the syllabus is not only aligned with Rwanda's Competence-Based Curriculum but also responsive to the aspirations of Vision 2050 and the National Strategy for Transformation (NST2).

We also acknowledge the invaluable support of development partners and education stakeholders who have consistently provided technical assistance in curriculum adaptation. Your partnership has greatly contributed to strengthening the quality of Rwanda's education system.

Finally, we call upon teachers, school leaders, and all education practitioners to use this syllabus with commitment and professionalism, ensuring that classrooms become vibrant learning environments that nurture knowledge, skills, values, and positive attitudes among students. Through your dedication, this syllabus will fulfil its purpose of empowering students to realise their full potential and contribute meaningfully to Rwanda's sustainable development.

MURUNGI Joan

Head of Curriculum, Teaching and Learning Resources Department

Rwanda Basic Education Board (REB)

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD	iii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT	v
1. GENERAL INTRODUCTION	1
1.1 Background to the syllabus adaptation	1
2. TEACHING AND LEARNING ENGLISH	1
2.1 Rationale	1
2.1.1 English and society	1
2.1.2 English and Student	2
2.2 Competences	2
2.2.1 Generic competences	2
2.2.2 English broad competences	3
2.2.3 English and developing competences	4
3. PEDAGOGICAL APPROACH	4
3.1 Role of the teacher	4
3.2 Role of the Student	4
3.3 Inclusive and Special Needs Education	5
4. ASSESSMENT APPROACH	5
4.1. Levels of assessment in Advanced Level across terms and national examinations	5
4.2 Record keeping	6
4.3 Item writing in summative assessment	6

4.4 Structure and format of assessment for English language.....	7
4.5 Reporting to parents.....	8
5. RESOURCES.....	8
5.1 Materials needed for implementation	8
5.2 Human Resource	9
5.3 Skills Required for the Teacher of English	9
6. SYLLABUS UNITS.....	9
6.1 Presentation of the structure of the syllabus	9
6.2 English Syllabus for Advanced level: Languages	10
6.2.1 Key Competences at the End of Senior 4	10
6.2.2. S4 Units development	12
6.3.1 Key Competences at the End of Senior 5	49
6.3.2 S5 units development	51
6.4.1 Key Competences at the end of Senior 6	97
6.4.2. S6 Units development	99
APPENDIX	133

Experimental version

1. GENERAL INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background to the syllabus adaptation

The Upper Secondary English syllabus provides students with the knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes necessary to use English effectively for communication, learning, and personal growth. It builds on the foundation laid at the lower secondary level and deepens students' competence through increased engagement with academic and literary texts. The syllabus emphasises communication, comprehension, composition, and an introduction to literature in English. It aligns with Rwanda's Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) and national development goals such as Vision 2050 and the National Strategy for Transformation (NST2), which highlight the importance of language, literacy, and creativity for a knowledge-based economy and responsible citizenship.

2. TEACHING AND LEARNING ENGLISH

2.1 Rationale

English is a global language and a key medium of instruction in Rwanda. It enables students to access knowledge, participate in socio-economic life, and engage with global communities. At upper secondary level, students are expected to refine their ability to use English for academic and real-life communication, while also developing an appreciation of literature. The integration of literature—poems, short stories, and plays—helps students to understand human experiences, build empathy, and express themselves creatively.

2.1.1 English and society

English proficiency enhances Rwanda's participation in regional and international communities, particularly within the East African Community and the Commonwealth. Through English, students gain access to opportunities in education, business, science, and technology. It equips them with the ability to express ideas clearly, collaborate across cultures, and contribute to national development.

2.1.2 English and Student

At upper secondary level, students are transitioning toward greater academic independence. English supports their learning across subjects and helps them communicate effectively both inside and outside the classroom. The study of literature introduces students to diverse perspectives, broadens their imagination, and strengthens their moral and emotional intelligence. Reading and responding to literary texts enhances vocabulary, grammar, and critical thinking, laying the groundwork for lifelong learning and appreciation of the arts.

2.2 Competences

Competences in this syllabus represent a balanced combination of knowledge, skills, attitudes, and values that enable students to apply English effectively and appropriately. Teachers must design tasks that integrate language skills and literary response, allowing students to demonstrate competences throughout the learning process.

2.2.1 Generic competences

Generic competences are cross-cutting abilities developed across all subjects. They equip students with essential lifelong learning skills and underpin all other competences in the curriculum.

Critical and problem-solving skills: Students develop the ability to think broadly and objectively, evaluate their causes and consequences, and suggest peaceful and practical solutions that contribute to harmony and sustainable living in their communities.

Creativity and innovation: The acquisition of such skills will help students to take the initiative and use imagination beyond the knowledge provided, to generate new ideas and construct new concepts.

Research: This will help students acquire the ability to gather, analyse, and interpret information from a variety of sources, including observations, interviews, and case studies to inform decisions and develop evidence-based conclusions.

Communication in official languages: Teachers, irrespective of their subject, will ensure proper use of the language of instruction to help students communicate clearly, confidently, and respectfully in both spoken and written forms, enabling them to express ideas, negotiate, and present information effectively for logical and coherent exchange.

Cooperation, interpersonal management and life skills: This competence enables students to work effectively with others, respect diverse opinions, and show empathy in group activities. It fosters moral values, responsibility, and active participation in community-oriented tasks such as environmental protection, health promotion, and service. Students also build social skills that enhance teamwork, leadership, and adaptability in addressing life's challenges.

Lifelong learning: Students cultivate curiosity, initiative, and adaptability by linking classroom knowledge to real-life experiences. This empowers them with the ability to update knowledge and skills independently, cope with evolving societal needs, and pursue personal growth and continuous development.

2.2.2 English broad competences

By the end of Upper Secondary education, students should be able to:

- Read, interpret, and critically analyse a wide variety of texts—including literary works—demonstrating understanding of explicit, implicit, and symbolic meanings, as well as the author's tone, perspective, and style.
- Write coherent, original, and well-structured texts such as analytical essays, commentaries and creative compositions, using language accurately and effectively for diverse purposes and audiences.
- Listen critically and respond thoughtfully to a range of spoken materials, including academic discussions, literary readings, and debates, evaluating ideas and expressing reasoned viewpoints.
- Speak fluently, persuasively, and expressively in different contexts, using appropriate register, pronunciation, and rhetorical strategies to convey ideas, arguments, and interpretations.

- Appreciate and evaluate literary works from diverse genres and cultures, analysing themes, characterization, tone, structure, and stylistic devices, and articulating personal and critical responses to literary and social issues.

2.2.3 English and developing competences

Through English, students develop communication, analytical, and reflective skills that help them participate responsibly in society. Literature plays a vital role in shaping empathy, ethical understanding, and cultural appreciation. These competences equip students to contribute positively to their communities.

3. PEDAGOGICAL APPROACH

Teaching and learning English at upper secondary level should be student-centred, participatory, and inclusive. Lessons should integrate listening, speaking, reading, writing, and literature in English. Teachers guide students through inquiry, reflection, and active use of language to build competence and confidence.

3.1 Role of the teacher

The teacher is a facilitator who plans, guides, and evaluates learning. Teachers encourage students to read widely, analyse texts critically, and express ideas confidently. They use drama, debates, projects, and literary analysis to make learning interactive and meaningful.

3.2 Role of the Student

Students take an active role in constructing knowledge through exploration and collaboration. They participate in reading circles, creative writing, dramatisation, and discussions that develop both language and literary skills.

3.3 Inclusive and Special Needs Education

All students must have access to quality English education. Teachers should adapt methods and materials to meet diverse needs, using differentiation, assistive tools, and peer support to ensure inclusion and equity.

4. ASSESSMENT APPROACH

Assessment is integral to the teaching and learning process. It evaluates students' competence in language and literature through diagnostic, formative, and summative methods, focusing on application, creativity, and values.

4.1. Levels of assessment in Advanced Level across terms and national examinations

To provide a comprehensive picture of student achievement and development, assessment is conducted at multiple levels:

- i) Diagnostic assessment: Conducted before instruction to identify students' prior knowledge and skills; administered at the beginning of a unit or lesson to guide teaching.
- ii) Formative / Continuous assessment: Carried out during the learning process to track progress and provide feedback; implemented continuously through quizzes, projects, class activities, and teacher observations.
- iii) Summative assessment:
 - End Term I: Administered after instruction to evaluate students' achievement of Term I content; conducted at the end of the first term as a school-based assessment.
 - End Term II: District-coordinated assessment designed to measure achievement of Term II content; developed by schools and quality-checked at district level.
 - End Term III: National assessment to evaluate mastery of the entire year's content; prepared, set, and moderated by NESAC at the end of the third term.

- National Examinations: High-stakes assessments for certification, selection, and accountability; administered nationally at the end of key education cycles (P6, S3, S6) under NESAs authority. This examination integrates objective questions, structured responses, and applied tasks aligned with CBC principles to holistically measure student achievement.
- In Advanced Level, all students will take 11 subjects in total – 7 core subjects and 4 compulsory subjects. The compulsory subjects include ICT, Entrepreneurship, General and Religious Studies, and Physical Education and Sport, which are mandatory for all students across all pathways.
- All subjects will be assessed at the national level, except for Physical Education and Sport, General and Religious Studies, ICT, and Entrepreneurship, which will be assessed at the school level only.

Average scores from school, district, and comprehensive summative assessments will be weighted and included in the final national examination grading, initially contributing 10%, with the percentage gradually increasing as teachers gain experience and confidence in assessment practices.

4.2 Record keeping

Teachers maintain portfolios, rubrics, and checklists documenting students' progress in reading, writing, speaking, listening, and literary analysis. Records support feedback and reporting.

4.3 Item writing in summative assessment

Summative assessment items must be valid, fair, reliable, and aligned with CBC principles. They should test a range of competencies, including knowledge recall, application, analysis, and values integration, while reflecting real-life contexts. Item writers follow a structured process that involves:

- Identify topic areas to be tested from the subject syllabus.
- Outline subject matter content to be considered as the basis for the test.
- Identify learning outcomes to be measured by the test.

- Preparing a test blueprint or table of specifications;
- Using verbs that require higher-order thinking beyond memorisation;
- Applying transparent and consistent marking schemes.
- Greater weight is given to higher-order cognitive skills as stated in the syllabus.

4.4 Structure and format of assessment for English language

At the upper secondary level, the English assessment will consist of one paper with two parts:

- Part 1: Written Examination (assesses reading, writing, and vocabulary/language use)
- Part 2: Oral Assessment (assesses listening and speaking)

Both parts together assess all four language skills—listening, speaking, reading, and writing—along with vocabulary and language use, ensuring a comprehensive evaluation of students’ mastery of English competencies as outlined in the Competence-Based Curriculum.

Part 1: WRITTEN EXAMINATION

Section A: Reading comprehension and literature

Tests the ability to read, understand, interpret, and respond to literary and non-literary texts (poems, short stories, excerpts from plays or novels, and informational texts). Tasks include literal, inferential, and evaluative questions on themes, characters, setting, and messages.

Section B: Language use

Assesses students’ ability to use English language accurately, appropriately, and effectively in context. This includes spelling, vocabulary meaning, language use, and appropriate word choice within sentences and short texts, through integrated reading and writing tasks rather than isolated grammar items.

Section C: Composition writing

Tests the ability to write clear, well-organized texts for different purposes and audiences. Tasks include writing paragraphs, essays, letters, reports, narratives, and responses to literary texts (e.g., opinions, summaries, reflections).

Part 2: ORAL ASSESSMENT

Section D: Listening

Tests the ability to understand spoken English in various contexts, follow instructions, and interpret information from audio materials (e.g., dialogues, announcements, short talks).

Section E: Speaking

Tests the ability to communicate effectively in spoken English, using appropriate pronunciation, vocabulary, grammar, and discourse strategies (e.g., role-plays, descriptions, expressing opinions).

4.5 Reporting to parents

Feedback to parents should describe students' strengths and areas for improvement across language and literature. Reports should highlight progress in communication skills, creativity, and critical thinking.

5. RESOURCES

5.1 Materials needed for implementation

Teaching English effectively requires textbooks, teachers' guides, literary anthologies, dictionaries, digital tools, audio materials, and visual aids. Supplementary readers, poetry and drama collections enrich the syllabus.

5.2 Human Resource

Implementation requires trained English teachers with strong command of English language and literature, school librarians, and community resource persons who contribute to creative learning experiences.

5.3 Skills Required for the Teacher of English

Teachers must demonstrate:

- Mastery of English language and literature.
- Pedagogical skills for student-centred instruction.
- Assessment literacy for competence-based evaluation.
- ICT integration and inclusive teaching practices.
- Professional ethics, research, and innovation.

6. SYLLABUS UNITS

6.1 Presentation of the structure of the syllabus

The English syllabus for lower secondary is structured around key competences, learning objectives and integrated units. Each unit develops communication and literary skills through reading, speaking, listening, and writing. Units combine language and literature activities in meaningful contexts.

SENIOR FOUR

6.2 English Syllabus for Advanced level: Languages

6.2.1 Key Competences at the End of Senior 4

By the end of S4, students should be able to:

Listening:

- Understand and interpret a variety of spoken texts, including interviews, lectures, and literary readings.
- Identify main ideas, tone, attitude, and implied meaning.
- Take accurate notes and Summarise key points.

Speaking:

- Engage confidently in class discussions, literary interpretations, and oral presentations.
- Express opinions, analyse ideas, and respond critically in debates.
- Use clear pronunciation, stress, and intonation to convey meaning effectively.

Reading:

- Read and interpret literary and non-literary texts, identifying themes, style, tone, and point of view.

- Analyse structure and language use to infer deeper meaning.
- Relate ideas from texts to personal and social contexts.

Writing:

- Produce coherent analytical and creative texts such as essays, reviews, letters, and short narratives.
- Use appropriate register and style for academic and creative purposes.
- Link ideas coherently using varied structures and vocabulary.

Literature:

- Identify and analyse themes, characters, and stylistic features in prose, poetry, and drama.
- Express informed personal responses to literary works with textual evidence.

6.2.2. S4 Units development

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about traditional Culture
S4: Languages Pathway		Unit 1: Traditional culture		Nº of Periods: 21
Key unit competency: Communicate effectively about traditional culture using appropriate language structure while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain traditional ceremonies and their significance in the community. Identify forms of oral literature such as myths, legends, folktales, proverbs, riddles, songs, and epics.	Describe traditional ceremonies using appropriate vocabulary and share personal experiences or observations. Read and interpret myths, legends, and poems to determine key ideas, events, and moral lessons.	Appreciate and respect cultural diversity through engagement with traditional stories. Value the moral teachings in oral literature and relate them to real-life situations. Demonstrate creativity and imagination in storytelling and poetry.	Language use Reading Talking about traditions and heritage Reading and comprehension of an extract from traditional African myths, legends, or Poem. Listening Describing a traditional wedding ceremony in Rwanda	Read the myth of Kigwa or another local myth, and identify key events, characters, and the moral of the story. Read a selected African Oral poem aloud in pairs, interpret meaning, and message of the poem and Summarise the poem’s theme and tone using correct tenses.

Describe the main features of traditional stories, including characters, setting, plot, and moral lessons. Explain the meanings of selected proverbs, riddles, and traditional songs or poems. Distinguish between different past tenses and apply them appropriately in storytelling. Explain the use of tenses (simple past, past continuous, past perfect, and past perfect continuous) in storytelling.	Retell stories orally and in writing using appropriate past tenses and vocabulary. Recite and analyse oral poems and lullabies to determine themes, tone, and message. Use learned vocabulary accurately in oral and written communication. Compose short folktales or rewrite local myths with clear organisation and moral	Develop curiosity and a positive attitude toward learning about their cultural heritage.	Speaking Narrating a cultural ceremony in Rwanda Language structure Simple Past Tense: describing completed actions in stories. Past Continuous Tense: describing ongoing actions in the past. Past Perfect Tense: showing an action completed before another past action. Past Perfect Continuous Tense: describing an action that continued up to another point in the past. Writing Using past tenses to describe a traditional ceremony	Match key words (e.g., drum, ancestors, clan, courage, justice, victory) to their meanings or use them in sentences about oral literature. Listen to a recorded folktale or a story told by a classmate or teacher and identify the setting, main characters, and the moral lesson. Retell the story in their own words using past tenses. Group storytelling competition. Each group performs a short myth or folktale. Use verbs from a folktale (e.g., go, fight, tell, win) to form sentences in each past tense.
---	--	---	---	---

Identify themes, messages, and characters commonly found in folktales, myths, and legends.			Literature Genres of oral literature: – Myths, Legends, Folktales, Proverbs, Riddles, Songs, – Epics. – Exploring proverbs and their meanings. – Traditional songs, dances, and Poems. – Riddles and tongue twisters in traditional play. – Traditional customs and ceremonies. – Moral lessons in traditional Stories	In groups, read an epic poem and identify its features. Imagine and write epic poem using the learnt vocabulary
--	--	--	---	---

Link to other subjects: History and Citizenship: appreciating that different people live different lives; many of the themes relate to religion, general studies and effective communication.

Assessment criteria: Can differentiate between oral and written literature through examples, identify and explain the main features and forms of oral literature such as myths, folktales, legends, and oral poetry; describe characters, themes, and messages from selected oral texts accurately and clearly; retell a myth or folktale using correct past tenses and sequencing words; write a short story or poem showing understanding of oral literature's structure and moral message.

Teaching and learning materials: Set books, Vocabulary wall/flashcards, Posters depicting common characters in folktales, a traditional stool, a woven basket, or a model shield/spear to use as a "prop" during storytelling, a traditional drum, recordings of traditional oral poetry or songs, video clips, projector, drama and role-play materials, and sorting cards.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about living in the community
S4: Languages Pathway		Unit 2: Living together in community		Nº of Periods: 21
Key unit competence: Communicate effectively about living together in community using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain different community responsibilities and the roles of people in society. Identify forms of prose (short story, novella, novel).	Interpret the roles and responsibilities of people in the community. Read and interpret short stories or prose texts to determine their main ideas, characters, and themes.	Appreciate short stories from Africa and beyond as sources of knowledge and moral guidance. Develop a love for reading and critical thinking. Respect different cultures and viewpoints expressed in prose.	Language use Reading A story about living together in a family Reading and interpreting a story about living together in the community. Listening Mutual support in the community	In small groups, read a text and answer comprehension questions. Read a short story and then in groups, discuss the setting, characters, and message. Answer questions on the story and identify the point of view, tone (melancholic, reflective, or humorous), and moral lesson in the story

Explain the difference between fictional and non-fictional prose. Recognize and use coordinating, subordinating, and conjunctions in sentences.	Analyse characters, settings, and events to determine tone, message, and purpose in a prose texts. Use conjunctions and pronouns accurately in both speech and writing. Explaining the effect of coordinating conjunctions, subordinating conjunctions, reflexive pronouns, personal pronouns, and relative pronouns in storytelling.	Value honesty and creativity in storytelling. Summarise or paraphrase short stories using correct sentence structure. Perform or role-play a short scene from a story to demonstrate understanding of characters and conflict.	Speaking Role playing a short scene from the story read Language structure • Coordinating conjunctions: and, but, or, nor, yet, for, so • Subordinating conjunctions: because, since, if, while, when, although, though, after, etc. • Reflexive pronouns: myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, themselves. • Personal pronouns: I, me, we, us, you, he, him, she, it, they, them. • Relative pronouns: who, whose, which, that.	PROJECT: Guardians of Culture (Units 1 & 2 – Traditional Culture / Living Together in Community) Description: Students explore and present aspects of their community's traditional culture — myths, folktales, songs, dances, riddles, or ceremonies — showing how these traditions promote unity and respect. They organise a cultural heritage exhibition where they perform, display artefacts, or share written reflections on cultural values and moral lessons.
---	--	---	---	---

			Writing Writing with conjunctions and pronouns Literature Introduction to prose – Forms of prose: Short stories, Novellas, Novels – Types of prose: Fictional and Non-fictional prose – Key elements of prose Reading and interpreting a prose – Main idea, purpose, and key elements of a prose passage. – Tone in a prose: melancholic, reflective, confessional	Write a short paragraph summarising the story. Listen to a story read by a teacher or a peer and explain the use of conjunctions and pronouns in the story. Complete sentences from the story using appropriate conjunctions. Identify pronouns in a paragraph and explain their reference (who they replace). Write a paragraph describing the best character, using pronouns and conjunctions correctly. Write short paragraphs summarising a prose passage.
--	--	--	--	--

			– Basic prose techniques: point of view, symbolism, and dialogue. – Themes and messages in prose	Write sentences about community responsibilities using coordinating, subordinating, and relative conjunctions correctly Role-play a short scene from the story showing a major conflict.
Link to other subjects: History and Citizenship: historical events, colonial experiences, cultural identity, and moral values; entrepreneurship: Stories about innovation, work ethics, or resource management.
Assessment criteria: Can identify and explain key elements of a short story or prose passage, analyse tone, point of view, and themes in a given text, use conjunctions and pronouns correctly in sentences and writing tasks, communicate clear and well-supported interpretations of prose passages, demonstrate appreciation of moral and cultural messages in prose texts.
Teaching and learning materials: Set books, short video clips or dramatisations of selected prose scenes, audio recordings of short stories, flashcards, projector for displaying, role-play materials (props for dramatisation).

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about morals and life lessons
S4: Languages		Unit 3: morals and life lessons		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about morals and life lessons using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain examples of good and bad behavior in stories and real life. Identify types of characters (protagonist, antagonist, major vs. minor, round vs flat, dynamic vs. static).	Read and interpret the moral lessons conveyed from stories. Analyse characters’ traits, actions, and motivations in prose. Compare and contrast characters using comparative and superlative forms.	Appreciate the importance of moral values such as forgiveness, honesty, and respect. Show empathy and understanding towards diverse characters and their actions. Value cooperation, honesty, and fairness in daily life.	Language use Reading Moral values in the community Reading and interpreting short stories about morals and life lesson. Listening Learning integrity through stories Speaking Honesty and respect: Role -play a dialogue between two characters illustrating a moral conflict.	Read a story about morals and life lessons and answer comprehension questions. Read a short story about kindness, patience, and resilience and identify the protagonist, antagonist, and other character types. Discuss in pairs how a character’s actions demonstrate moral values (e.g., forgiveness, empathy).

Explain how characters demonstrate or resist moral values (forgiveness, cooperation, respect, empathy, peaceful conflict resolution). Recognise and use comparative and superlative adjectives to describe characters' traits. Explain the order of adjectives for describing physical traits, emotions, personality, or moral qualities.	Describe characters accurately using adjective order and adverbs both in writing and speaking. Link characters' behaviour to moral lessons in oral and written expressions. Use correlative conjunctions and adverbs appropriately in speaking and writing to talk about tradition and modernity.	Demonstrate critical thinking and ethical reasoning in discussions about character behaviour.	Language structure – Comparatives and superlatives – Adjectives for positive and negative feelings – Orders of adjectives – Correlative conjunctions. – Types of adverbs and their usage: Adverbs of manner, frequency, degree, probability. Writing Write about community responsibilities in Rwanda. Literature Types of characters in oral and written literature: – Protagonist and antagonist.	In pairs, orally, compare two characters' traits using "more...than" and "the most...". Write sentences describing a character using multiple adjectives (e.g., "a tall, kind, and generous man"). Listening to a story excerpts to identify character traits and changes. Identify adverbs of manner, frequency, degree, or probability in the story and create new sentences using them. Compare two characters in the story and explain who better demonstrates positive values.
--	--	--	--	--

Identify and use correlative conjunctions correctly in sentences. Recognise and use adverbs of manner, frequency, degree, and probability in character descriptions. Explain how character actions and words convey moral lessons.	Interpret how authors use characterisation to convey themes of kindness, patience, and resilience.	– Major vs. minor characters. – Round vs flat characters. – Dynamic vs static characters. Characters traits Comparing characters Characterisation: Direct and indirect characterisation Moral values and character actions (e.g., humble – listens to others, arrogant – ignores advice).	Role-play a dialogue between two characters illustrating a moral conflict. Identify how the author uses characters to teach a life lesson. Write short character descriptions using correct adjective order. Write a paragraph comparing two characters from a story using comparatives and superlatives.
Link to other subjects: Kinyarwanda: Compares moral lessons and character types in local folktales or oral literature with those in English prose. History and Citizenship: Some stories reflect historical periods or cultural practices, connecting literature with history lessons.
Assessment criteria: Can identify character types and describe their traits accurately, compare and contrast characters using comparative and superlative adjectives, link character actions and words to moral lessons in prose, use correlative conjunctions and adverbs correctly in oral and written communication. express and justify personal reflections on morals and life lessons.
Teaching and learning materials: Set books, Story maps, Role-play and props,

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about tradition and modernity
S4: Languages		Unit 4: Tradition and modernity		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about tradition and modernity using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain examples of traditional values and modern education practices in the text. Identify and explain the use of correlative conjunctions in combining related ideas.	Read the extract carefully and interpret how traditional values are represented and challenged in modern contexts. Read and analyse narrative extracts to identify themes, values, and the narrator’s point of view.	Appreciate the coexistence and evolution of traditional and modern values in society. Respect cultural heritage while acknowledging positive aspects of change and modernisation.	Language use Reading Talking about modern education and traditions Reading and interpreting an extract about traditional values from a selected novel. Listening A conversation between an elder and a youth A short conversation discussing traditional and modern lifestyles.	Read, analyse a passage from a selected novel and answer comprehension questions. Identify the narrator’s point of view and discuss how it influences the reader’s understanding of the story. Compare the representation of traditional and modern values in the story.

Recognize and construct adjective and adverb phrases to describe emotions, actions, and settings. Interpret the meanings of idiomatic expressions and use them appropriately in sentences. Describe types of narrator's points of view (first-person, third-person limited, third-person omniscient, second-person).	Discuss in groups how narration influences readers' understanding of traditional and modern life. Construct correct and meaningful sentences using correlative conjunctions and idiomatic expressions. Compose sentences and paragraphs using appropriate adjective and adverb phrases.	Value the role of storytelling and literature in preserving moral and cultural lessons. Develop creativity, cooperation, and responsibility during storytelling, writing, and group performances.	Speaking Act out a family scene A scene where the young generation wants to adopt a modern habit that the elders oppose. Language structure • Correlative conjunctions: either...or, neither...nor, both...and, not only...but also, whether...or, just as...so, as...as, such...that, rather...than. • Adjective and adverb phrases • Synonyms and antonyms related to emotions and actions. • Common idiomatic expressions.	Listen to a short conversation between an elder and a youth discussing traditional and modern lifestyles. Students, in groups, act out a family scene where the young generation wants to adopt a modern habit that the elders oppose.... In pairs, write a paragraph describing a traditional ceremony and how it has changed in modern times. In groups, create a story map showing the plot structure, exposition, rising action, climax, falling action, and resolution, then present and justify the plot sequence to peers.
---	--	---	--	---

Explain the functions of a narrator in fiction and non-fiction texts. Identify and analyse the elements of plot (exposition, rising action, climax, falling action, resolution). Distinguish between linear and circular plots. Explain how dialogue and figurative language (simile, metaphor, personification, symbolism) develop plot and character.	Create story maps that illustrate the structure of a plot (exposition → resolution). Write short stories or paragraphs that demonstrate conflict or harmony between traditional and modern values. Use figurative language to describe emotions, people, and cultural experiences vividly.	Writing Writing a paragraph describing traditional ceremonies and how it has changed in modern times. Literature • Introduction to narration • Narrator's point of view: First-person, third-person limited, third-person omniscient, second-person. • Functions of the narrator in fiction and non-fiction. Storytelling structure • Elements of plot: Exposition, rising action, climax, falling action, resolution.	Use correlative conjunctions to combine ideas about traditional and modern society. Write three original sentences using figures of speech to describe life in a traditional village or a modern city. Match idiomatic expressions with their meanings and use them in sentences. Students retell a short traditional story using modern settings or characters. Listen to a short recorded story narrated in first-person and identify the narrator's role and point of view.
---	---	---	---

	Retell traditional stories using modern settings and characters to show adaptation and creativity. Perform or act out short scenes that portray emotional or cultural conflicts. Match and apply synonyms and antonyms of emotions and actions in oral or written contexts.		Types of plots – Linear and circular The role of dialogue in advancing the plot and revealing character. Figurative language: Simile, metaphor, personification, symbolism.	Write a short story showing the conflict or harmony between traditional and modern values, using correct plot structure, correlative conjunctions, and figurative expressions. In groups, perform a short scene showing conflict between old and new customs Students act out an emotion or action and others guess the word and give synonyms/ antonyms.
--	--	--	---	--

Link to other subjects:

Geography: Physical and social geography of Rwanda and beyond, Religious Education: Encourages reflection on how faith interacts with social change. History: Historical references in stories help students understand how culture evolves over time.

Assessment criteria: Can identify and explain the narrative point of view and its effect on the story, analyse plot structure and characterisation in stories, demonstrate understanding of figurative and idiomatic expressions in context, use correlative conjunctions accurately in speech and writing, express opinions on the interaction between tradition and modernity using examples from texts.

Teaching and learning materials: Selected African short stories, audio recordings of storytelling or narration, flashcards, video clips or pictures showing traditional and modern settings.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about reading and writing for children
S4: Languages Pathway		Unit 5: Read and write for children		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Communicate ideas, moral values, and messages through reading, interpreting, composing, and performing children’s literary texts using appropriate language structures and expressions.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain different reading habits and their importance. Identify and explain the use of cohesive devices for sequencing events in a story (e.g., first, then, next, after that, finally).	Read the passage carefully and interpret the key points about reading habits. Read and analyse passages about children’s story to identify key ideas, characters, and morals. Interpret stories and rhymes by discussing their messages, rhythm, and emotional tone.	Appreciate the importance of children’s rights and care in families and communities. Value moral lessons conveyed through children’s literature such as kindness, sharing, and honesty.	Language use Reading Children’s story Talking about reading habits Reading and comprehension of a passage about reading habits. Reading and interpreting a selected children’s story Reading aloud and interpreting children’s rhymes about caring for children.	In groups, read and answer comprehension questions then analyse a children’s story or rhyme to identify key elements (characters, setting, theme, moral). Reorder a mixed-up story using sequencing words: First, Then, Next, After that, Finally. Students convert sentences from children’s dialogues into indirect speech.

Distinguish between direct and indirect speech and apply the correct rules in reporting dialogue. Define and use synonyms and antonyms related to moral values and children's behaviour. Describe the key elements of children's literature (characters, setting, plot, theme, and moral).	Reorder mixed-up sentences or events to demonstrate understanding of sequencing using cohesive devices. Convert sentences from direct to indirect speech accurately. Write short stories or rhymes for children that apply cohesive devices and correct sequencing of events. Compare children's and adult literature to determine differences in language, tone, and message.	Demonstrate teamwork, empathy, and respect during reading, writing, and performance activities. Develop interest and enjoyment in reading children's stories and rhymes. Promote positive attitudes toward protecting and supporting children through creative expression.	Listening Discovering rhythm and emotion in children's rhymes. Listen to the teacher reading a rhyme aloud and answer comprehension questions. Speaking Retelling a children's story with expressions and moral values. Language structure • Cohesive devices: first, then, next, after that, later, finally, etc. • Direct and indirect speech • Sentence construction for sequencing events and reporting speech in stories.	Role-play: Retell a children's story using correct sequencing and tone. Write a short story or rhyme for children using simple language and cohesive devices. Rewrite a paragraph from a children's story using indirect speech. In groups, compare a children's story and an adult story to identify differences in language, theme, and tone. In groups, categorise examples into genres: fable, fantasy, realistic fiction, informational text, or rhyme.
---	--	---	--	---

Explain common themes and messages in children's stories and rhymes, especially those promoting children's rights and care. Differentiate between children's and adult literature based on language, tone, and themes. Classify genres of children's literature such as fables, fantasy, realistic fiction, informational books, and rhymes.	Categorise given texts into correct genres of children's literature. Compose or rewrite short passages that report dialogue using indirect speech. Recite or perform rhymes and fables with correct rhythm, pronunciation, and tone. Collaborate in groups to analyse, create, and present stories or performances promoting positive moral values.		• Synonyms and antonyms related to moral values. Writing Writing your own children's story. Literature • Key elements of children's literature (characters, setting, plot, theme, moral). • Common themes and messages in children's literary works • Differences between children's and adult literature • Genres of children's literature: Nursery rhymes, fantasy, fables, realistic fiction, informational books.	The whole class, listen to the teacher reads the rhyme aloud slowly and clearly, modeling rhythm, tone and students repeat the rhyme in groups and individually. Then, discuss rhythm, rhyme pattern and emotional tone used In groups, perform or recite a short rhyme or fable.
---	---	--	---	---

Link to other subjects:

Kinyarwanda: compare children's stories, folktales, and rhymes written in Kinyarwanda to understand similarities in themes, morals, and cultural values.

Assessment criteria: Can identify and describe key features and genres of children's literature, use cohesive devices and reported speech accurately in storytelling, write and present creative children's stories or rhymes with clear morals, demonstrate appreciation of imagination and moral lessons in children's works.

Teaching and learning materials: Set books, flashcards, audio or video clips of nursery rhymes, posters showing story elements.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about unity and reconciliation
S4: Languages pathway		Unit 6:Unity and reconciliation		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about unity and reconciliation using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain ways trust is built in communities as presented in the text or poem. Identify and explain key themes of unity, peace, and reconciliation in reading texts. Recognise and produce vowel and consonant sounds in thematic words.	Read the text or poem carefully and interpret how it promotes unity, reconciliation, and trust. Pronounce key words clearly, paying attention to syllables and intonation. Read passages on unity and reconciliation, summarising main ideas and morals.	Appreciate the importance of peace, forgiveness, and unity in the community. Show respect and empathy toward others' experiences. Value cooperation and teamwork in resolving conflicts.	Language use Reading Talking about unity and reconciliation Reading a text or poem on unity and reconciliation Listening Conflict resolution Speaking Role-play mediating a conflict between two friends. Language structure	Read a short story or passage on reconciliation and answer comprehension questions. Group discussion: Identify moral lessons in the text and relate them to real-life situations. In pairs, students listen to a short story about people resolving conflict and identify the key ideas that promote unity and reconciliation.

Understand word formation processes (derivation, compounding, conversion, clipping). Identify word classes in context.	Fluently, form new words using derivation, compounding, and other processes. Use nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, and conjunctions correctly in writing and speaking. Compose short paragraphs or dialogues promoting peace and forgiveness.	Demonstrate positive language use to promote reconciliation.	Introduction to English Sounds • Vowel sounds – e.g., /u:/ in unity, /ɪ/ in forgive • Consonant sounds – e.g., /r/ in reconciliation, /p/ in peace • Syllables – breaking thematic words into syllables (u-ni-ty, re-con-ci-li-a-tion) • Intonation – Rising and falling tones in sentences expressing peace and forgiveness Word Classes: Nouns, Verbs, Adjectives, Adverbs, Prepositions, Conjunctions, Interjections... Word formation processes • Derivation – add prefixes/suffixes (un-happy, forgive → forgiveness).	Role-play: Mediate a conflict between two friends, using peaceful and reconciling language. Pair activity: Describe what forgiveness means and how it can restore unity in a community. PROJECT: Stories that Teach (Units 5 & 6 – Read and Write for Children / Unity and Reconciliation) Create and illustrate a short children's story that promotes values such as peace, honesty, cooperation, forgiveness, or reconciliation. Present the story to the class and explain its moral lesson.
--	---	---	--	--

			• Compounding – classroom, peacemaker. • Conversion – to clean → clean • Clipping – advertisement → advert. Writing Informal and formal letter Curriculum Vitae
Link to other subjects: General and religious Studies: Emphasises forgiveness, empathy, and moral behaviour. Assessment criteria: Can identify and summarise themes of unity and reconciliation in texts, use word formation processes to create meaningful words related to peace, pronounce thematic words correctly with attention to syllables and intonation, write and speak coherently to express ideas of forgiveness and reconciliation. Teaching and learning materials: Flashcards, Pictures, Audio recordings for pronunciation and intonation practice

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about basic needs
S4: Languages		Unit 7: Basic needs: Water		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about basic needs using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain the importance of water in sustaining life as presented in the poems. Identify and describe the types of sentences (simple, compound, complex) used in poetry. Recognize and explain descriptive adjectives and figurative expressions that express strong emotions.	Read the poems carefully and interpret how water is symbolically and literally represented. Read poems aloud with correct tone, rhythm, and emotion. Discuss and analyse the meaning of poetic lines and identify words showing emotion or attitude.	Appreciate and respect the natural environment, as inspired by poems about water. Demonstrate curiosity and creativity by exploring poetic forms, imagery, and figurative language.	Language use Reading Talking about water and life Reading and interpreting selected poems about water. Listening Listening to a poem: 'What we carry' Speaking Debate on water conservation	Read the poem silently, then aloud in pairs, focusing on tone and rhythm then answer comprehension questions. In groups, discuss the meaning of key lines and identify words or phrases that show strong emotions (e.g., anger, love, hope, regret).

Define and illustrate the elements of poetry (stanza, line, rhyme). Differentiate among the types of poetry (lyric, narrative, dramatic). Explain the tone and mood of a poem using appropriate vocabulary. Identify and analyse sound devices such as alliteration, assonance, consonance, and onomatopoeia. Interpret imagery and figurative language (simile, metaphor, personification, hyperbole, symbolism) in selected poems.	Classify poetic lines according to their sentence type and combine sentences to form compound or complex structures. Identify and match poetic devices with examples from selected poems. Compose short original poems that include sound devices (e.g., alliteration) and figurative language (e.g., simile, metaphor). Listen to and evaluate the use of tone and sound in a poem read aloud by others.	Value cultural and linguistic diversity through understanding different poetic styles and expressions. Exhibit patience, cooperation, and respect during group discussions, reading, and performance activities. Develop self-expression and confidence in composing and reading poetry aloud.	Language structure Types of sentences: Simple, compound, complex. Descriptive adjectives and figurative expressions. Writing Write a poem on the importance of water. Literature • Elements of poetry: stanza, line, rhyme. • Types of poetry: lyric, narrative, dramatic. • Tone and mood in poetry. • Sound devices: alliteration, assonance, consonance, onomatopoeia.	Read aloud the poem and discuss the tone (happy, sad, reflective) and mood (joyful, serious, calm). Listen to a teacher reads a poem and highlight words that create rhythm and sound effects. In groups, students talk about different ways people use water and explain why it is important to use it wisely. Match poetic devices with examples from the poem. Identify and label sentence types from sample poem lines.
---	---	---	--	--

Summarise the main message or theme of a poem related to the power of words.	Use adjectives and figurative expressions to describe emotions, situations, or experiences.	Foster reflective thinking and empathy, considering the ideas and messages conveyed in poems.	• Imagery and figurative language: Simile, metaphor, personification, hyperbole, symbolism.	Combine simple sentences into compound or complex ones expressing poetic ideas. Compose a short poem using alliteration, metaphor or simile.
--	---	---	--	--

Link to other subjects:

Kinyarwanda: Reading and composing traditional Rwandan poems (ibisigo). History: Understanding poems related to historical events or cultural identity.

Assessment criteria: Can identify and explain elements and types of poetry, recognise and use poetic devices effectively, read and interpret poems, identifying mood, tone, and message, write short poems using correct poetic structures and sentence types, communicate feelings and ideas creatively through poetry.

Teaching and learning materials: Audio recordings of poetry recitations, pictures or illustrations to inspire poem writing, flashcards showing poetic devices.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about workplaces
S4: Languages Pathway		UNIT 8: Workplaces		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about work places using appropriate language structures while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain different places of work and the roles of people in these settings Identify and classify different types of prepositions used in various contexts. Recognise and explain the use of modal verbs (may, can, should) for polite requests and suggestions.	Read passages and dialogues carefully and interpret the information about workplace settings and practices. Describe various workplaces using appropriate vocabulary and explain the roles and responsibilities of people there.	Appreciate the importance of context-appropriate language in communication. Show respect and politeness when making requests or responding in formal situations.	Language use Reading Talking about places of work Reading passages, dialogues and announcements about hospital, courtroom, school, and market settings. Listening Describing people and their professions.	Read a short dialogue between a doctor and a patient. Identify new words and their meanings. In pairs, students listen to a short description of different people and identify where each person works and what they do. In pairs, role-play a doctor and patient consultation using target vocabulary (e.g., symptoms, treatment, prescription).

Define and illustrate collocations and phrasal verbs (e.g., make a decision, keep records). Distinguish between homonyms, homophones, and homographs with examples. Identify and explain phrases commonly used in formal and informal settings such as hospitals, courts, classrooms, and markets. Describe the roles and language used by different professionals (e.g., doctor, lawyer, teacher, vendor) in their respective settings.	Read and interpret dialogues, passages, and announcements about real-life settings (hospital, courtroom, school, market). Role-play various professional interactions (doctor–patient, judge–lawyer, teacher–student) using correct vocabulary and expressions. Differentiate and apply correct homonyms, homophones, and homographs in context.	Demonstrate confidence and cooperation during role-plays and group discussions. Value the role of effective communication in promoting understanding and professionalism. Develop a positive attitude toward learning vocabulary used in various community and professional settings.	Speaking Role-playing; Doctor-patient consultation Language structure – Types of prepositions – Use of modal verbs for polite requests (may, can, should) – Common collocations and phrasal verbs: make a decision, give a presentation, keep records, take a course – Phrases commonly used in different settings – Homonyms, Homophones, Homographs	Match medical terms with their definitions. Read a short courtroom scene. Identify the roles of judge, lawyer, defendant, and witness. In groups, perform a mock trial using given phrases such as "Objection, your honor!" or "I swear to tell the truth." Write different sentences using legal terms correctly. Read a passage about classroom communication. Identify polite expressions used by students and teachers and use them in the sentences
--	---	--	--	---

	Compose short dialogues or announcements that reflect appropriate language and tone for specific settings. Listen to peers' or teachers' dialogues and evaluate the use of polite and professional expressions.			Practice a classroom conversation using common expressions (e.g., "May I ask a question?"). Create a short dialogue between a teacher and a student discussing an assignment. Complete sentences using suitable phrasal verbs.
--	---	--	--	---

Link to other subjects:

Entrepreneurship: Learning language for business and market communication. Biology and Health Sciences: Vocabulary related to health, hygiene, and hospitals.

Assessment criteria: Assess student's ability to communicate clearly in hospital, courtroom, school, and market situations using correct vocabulary and expressions, read, understand, and answer questions on texts from different settings, write short dialogues, notes, or messages using context-appropriate vocabulary and grammar. show cooperation, respect, and responsibility in communication activities.

Teaching and learning materials: Flashcards with setting vocabulary and pictures, audio clips of conversations in different settings, price tags, medical forms and school timetables.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about gender
S4: Languages Pathway		Unit 9: Gender		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about gender using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain examples of shared responsibilities and gender roles as presented in the play. Identify and describe the features of drama (dialogue, stage directions, acts, scenes, plot).	Read the play carefully and interpret the messages about fairness and equality in responsibilities. Read, interpret, and analyse extracts from a play, identifying key features and techniques. Compare drama with other genres using graphic organizers such as Venn diagrams.	Appreciate drama as a creative form of expressing social themes such as gender roles and equality. Show respect for diverse gender roles and perspectives presented in drama. Demonstrate confidence and collaboration during role-plays and performances.	Language use Reading Talking about sharing responsibilities Reading and acting out a play about gender roles. Reading an extract of a play from a set book (drama). Listening Education and social transformation	Read an extract from one of the set books and identify the features of drama (dialogue, stage directions, acts, and scenes). Compare drama with other literary genres (poetry, prose) using a Venn diagram. Discuss the main message and theme of the extract.

Explain the differences between drama and other literary genres such as prose and poetry. Define and illustrate the main dramatic techniques (monologue, soliloquy, aside, conflict, suspense). Identify and use quantifiers (some, many, few, much, several) in sentences and dialogues appropriately.	Discuss and analyse the themes, messages, and character roles in the selected play. Classify dramatic excerpts into their appropriate genres (comedy, tragedy, etc.) with justification. Use quantifiers and modal verbs accurately in writing and speaking to express advice, obligation, or degree.	Value the importance of balanced participation between male and female roles in dramatic works and real life. Develop a positive attitude toward using English creatively and respectfully in spoken and written forms.	Speaking Talking about equal opportunities Language structure – Quantifiers (some, many, all, few, much, a lot of, several...) in dialogues. – Expressions of agreement and disagreement. – Modal verbs (should, must) for expressing obligation and advice. – Using they for general reference.	In groups, classify short dramatic excerpts as comedy, tragedy, tragicomedy, or melodrama, and explain why. Watch or listen to a short drama clip and discuss what genre it represents. Identify dialogues, monologues, soliloquies, and asides in the text and explain their purpose. Write and perform a short monologue or dialogue showing conflict or suspense.
--	--	---	--	--

Explain the use of modal verbs (should, must) to express obligation and advice. Recognise and apply expressions of agreement and disagreement in conversation. Explain how the pronoun "they" can be used for general reference in gender-neutral communication.	Compose and perform short dialogues or monologues demonstrating conflict, agreement, or suspense. Identify and use expressions for agreement and disagreement appropriately in drama-based conversations.		Writing Creative writing about gender Literature – Features of drama: Dialogue, stage directions, characters, and plot. – Difference between drama and other literary genres. – Main genres of drama: Comedy, tragedy, tragicomedy, and melodrama. – Main dramatic techniques: Dialogue, monologue, soliloquy, aside, conflict, suspense, stage and directions.	Identify and underline quantifiers in the drama extract and explain how quantifiers affect tone and message. For example, "a few friends came" vs. "many friends came." Rewrite short dialogue lines using quantifiers accurately. Convert dialogue from direct to reported speech; discuss changes in meaning. Rewrite short lines from the play using different quantifiers and discuss how the meaning or feeling changes.
---	---	--	--	---

Link to other subjects:

History: Exploring the social and political contexts of plays. Kinyarwanda / French: Comparing dramatic forms and expressions across languages. Entrepreneurship: Creativity and teamwork during dramatic performance.

Assessment criteria: Assess the ability of students to identify features, genres, and techniques of drama accurately, use appropriate techniques in short performances, explain the purpose and effect of dramatic techniques and quantifiers, interpret character motives, themes, and conflicts in a play.

Teaching and learning materials: Extracts from set books, flashcards with dramatic terms, audio or video clips of plays or stage performances.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about patriotism
S4: Languages Pathway		Unit 10: Patriotism		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about patriotism using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain the qualities of a good citizen as presented in the passage. Identify and describe the key elements of prose (plot, setting, characters, theme, tone). Recognize and distinguish between fictional and non-fictional prose.	Read the passage carefully and interpret how a good citizen contributes to the community. Read, analyse, and interpret prose passages to identify key elements and moral lessons related to patriotism.	Appreciate stories that promote moral and social values. Show interest in reading and sharing ideas. Respect others' viewpoints in group discussions. Build confidence when speaking in front of others. Appreciate creative language use in literature.	Language use Reading Talking about good citizenship and patriotic values Read and interpret a passage about a good citizen. Read an extract from a selected story that reflects patriotic values.	Read a text about a good citizen and answer comprehension questions, in groups. Read and discuss a selected story extract in groups and identify and label elements of the story Present a short group summary of the text highlighting moral lessons.

Explain how narrative techniques (dialogue, flashback, foreshadowing, imagery, symbolism, tone) are used to develop meaning. Define and use various tenses (present, past, past perfect, and past perfect continuous) accurately in narration. Identify and apply direct and indirect speech correctly in storytelling. Explain and use punctuation marks and cohesive devices effectively to link ideas in written and spoken texts.	Discuss and summarise the main ideas and values presented in texts about patriotism. Use sentences in direct and indirect speech accurately. Compose well-organized short stories or paragraphs using appropriate tense, structure, and figurative language. Plan, draft, edit, and present short stories that show coherence, creativity, and correct use of tenses.	Show curiosity in learning new expressions. Demonstrate creativity and originality in writing. Appreciate constructive feedback from peers. Show appreciation of classmates' creative work. Demonstrate confidence in presenting one's ideas.	Listening A story about patriotism Speaking Discussing about patriotic values Language structure • Tenses: present/past/ past perfect/ past perfect continuous. • Direct and indirect speech • Punctuation and cohesion devices Literature • Review of prose genres (fiction and non-fiction)	Listen to a recorded or read-aloud story passage and answer comprehension and inference questions orally. In pairs, students discuss and express their opinions about patriotism, give examples of patriotic actions, and discuss how young people can contribute to their country's development, and present to the whole class. PROJECT: Voices of Change (Units 9 & 10 – Gender / Patriotism)
---	---	--	---	---

Identify and interpret idioms and proverbs that convey patriotic or moral messages. Recognise and explain the role of figurative language in enhancing creative writing.	Create and use imagery and symbolism to express themes of patriotism and unity in their writing. Role-play or dramatise scenes from a prose text to demonstrate understanding of character and theme.	• Review of literary elements: plot, setting, characters, theme, tone • Review narrative techniques: dialogue, flashback, foreshadowing, tone, imagery, symbolism Writing Creative writing: Write about good citizenship and patriotic values. Literature Fictional prose writing • Planning and organizing narrative paragraphs	Description: Students work in groups to write and perform a short drama addressing gender equality or patriotism. Their plays highlight positive social change, shared responsibilities, or love for their country. The performances can be showcased during Patriotism or Gender Awareness Week at school. In pairs, role-play dialogue between characters. Match idioms and proverbs to their meanings. Rewrite sentences from direct to indirect speech.
--	---	--	---

			• Developing characters and themes • Narrative voice and Tone setting • Use of figurative language • Evaluating, editing and presenting	Group activity: describe an event using imagery and figurative language. Brainstorm story ideas around given themes (e.g., love, unity, reconciliation). Write individual or group short stories following the structure: introduction, body, conclusion. Peer-edit drafts focusing on coherence, tense, and creativity. Present or dramatize written stories in groups.
--	--	--	--	---

Link to other subjects:

Entrepreneurship: Creativity, innovation, communication skills, Kinyarwanda: Storytelling, folktales, and moral lessons

Assessment criteria: Can identify main elements of a prose narrative, Can summarise and explain themes and messages, Can identify tone and emotions in a spoken text, use figurative and idiomatic expressions appropriately, apply correct tense and sentence structures in context, plan and write an original, coherent, and grammatically correct story, use narrative devices effectively, present a story confidently and fluently.

Teaching and learning materials: Audio recordings, story text, projector/speakers, role-play props, charts, idiom cards, sentence strips, dictionaries, posters

SENIOR FIVE

6.3.1 Key Competences at the End of Senior 5

By the end of S5, students should be able to:

Listening:

- Comprehend and evaluate complex spoken materials such as debates, lectures, and dramatic readings.
- Identify speaker intention, bias, and tone.
- Take structured notes and use them to analyse and Summarise ideas.

Speaking:

- Lead and participate actively in literary discussions and academic debates.
- Present critical viewpoints clearly and respond thoughtfully to others' opinions.
- Use a variety of registers and stylistic features for effective communication.

Reading:

- Read a wide range of literary and non-literary texts critically, analysing themes, structure, and techniques.

- Compare and contrast authors' perspectives across genres.
- Interpret symbolism, figurative language, and cultural context.

Writing:

- Write detailed analytical essays and creative pieces that demonstrate critical thinking and imagination.
- Organize arguments logically and support them with textual and contextual evidence.
- Use precise vocabulary and stylistic variety to enhance meaning.

Literature:

- Interpret complex literary works, examining characterization, themes, imagery, and style.
- Relate texts to historical, cultural, and social contexts.
- Present personal and critical evaluations with textual evidence.

6.3.2 S5 units development

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about patriotism
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 1: Patriotism		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about patriotism through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing, using appropriate language structures while demonstrating love, loyalty, and responsibility toward one’s country.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Explain the concept of patriotism and its importance in national development. Identify features, structure, and language of speeches and public addresses.	Interpret patriotic texts and speeches. Write and deliver effective patriotic speeches. Listen to and summarise speeches, identifying key ideas and persuasive techniques.	Show love, loyalty, and pride toward their country. Demonstrate unity, respect, and civic responsibility in school and community. Develop confidence, discipline, and honesty in communication.	Language Use Reading: Patriotism towards one’s country Selected speeches and public addresses that express love, loyalty, and responsibility toward one’s country. Listening Talking about youth participation in nation-building.	In a whole class discussion, brainstorming on the meaning of patriotism. In small groups, read a selected speech to identify main ideas, emotional tone, and patriotic values expressed.

Recognise and use appropriate grammatical structures (tenses, modals, conditionals, relative clauses, reported speech) in patriotic contexts.	Apply correct grammar in speech writing and oral communication.		Speaking Talking about patriotic values Language structure Tenses review and consistency in speech writing: -Simple Present for general truths and national values. Example: "If our ancestors had not fought, we would not enjoy freedom today." Reported speech (indirect speech): To report ideas or statements from national leaders or speeches. Example: "The president said that unity is the foundation of development." Public speaking: Speech preparation& delivery	In groups, students listen to a recorded or teacher-read extract from a famous patriotic speech (e.g., a leader addressing national unity). In pairs, identify sentences in the speech showing the use of tenses, modals, conditionals, relative clauses, and reported speech. In groups, brainstorm and list as many patriotic words as possible (unity, freedom, respect, service, dignity, integrity). The teacher records the words on the board and helps to explain their meanings through examples.
--	--	--	--	--

			– Tips for a good speech writing – Tips for a good speech delivery – Speech writing – Speech delivery Writing Speech writing and delivery	In pairs, complete contextualised exercises using target structures. In groups, each group drafts a short patriotic speech titled “My Role in Building My Country.” They plan structure (introduction–body–conclusion) and ensure grammar consistency. Then later, Individually, they deliver their speeches to the class. In pairs, listen to two recorded patriotic messages. Discuss which one is more persuasive and why.
--	--	--	--	---

				Individually, students write a short speech or poem expressing love for their country.
--	--	--	--	--

Link to other subjects:

History: Understanding the struggle for independence and national heroes, General Studies and Religious education: Promoting patriotism, unity, and good citizenship, Kinyarwanda: Comparing expressions of national pride in local speeches and poems.

Assessment criteria: Can identify main ideas, tone, and message in patriotic speeches, can deliver a clear, confident, and persuasive patriotic speech using accurate grammar and pronunciation, can write a well-structured patriotic speech or paragraph with correct grammar and coherence.

Teaching and learning materials: Selected patriotic speeches (print or audio), audio recorder or computer for playing speeches, flashcards with patriotic vocabulary. Chart papers and markers (for slogan/poster work), Rwandan flag and images of national heroes (visual prompts), projector or TV for video speech samples.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about anti-social behaviour
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 2: Anti-social behaviours		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about anti-social behaviours through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing, using appropriate language structures while demonstrating ethical reasoning and civic responsibility.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Explain what anti-social behaviours are and their impact on individuals, families, schools, and communities. Identify rules for an effective debate.	Analyse short stories and extracts to identify social issues and messages. Write structured argumentative texts with logical flow, supporting ideas with facts and quotations.	Demonstrate respect, empathy, and fairness in discussion. Promote civic responsibility and ethical behaviour in their communities. Critically reflect on the consequences of anti-social behaviours.	Language Use Reading Causes and impacts of anti-social behaviours. Texts or extracts from selected short story that describe and critique anti-social behaviours such as dishonesty, drug abuse, theft, corruption, violence, discrimination, and lack of respect for others, to explore how such behaviours negatively affect individuals, families, schools, and communities.	Engage in class discussions on examples and impacts of anti-social behaviours, linking to real-life experiences and civic responsibilities. Read and analyse short stories or extracts on anti-social behaviours, identifying key messages, characters' attitudes, consequences, and persuasive language.

Recognise and use advanced grammar structures (modals, passive voice, complex and conditional sentences, connectors, rhetorical forms, nominalisation, emphatic structures, reported speech) in persuasive communication.	Plan and participate in debates, performing roles such as proposer, opposer, moderator, timekeeper, and audience. Use persuasive language effectively in both writing and oral presentations.		Listening Avoiding anti social behaviours Speaking Anti-social behaviour prevention Debate: – What a debate is and its purpose in communication and civic life. – Roles in a debate: proposer, opposer, moderator, timekeeper, audience. – Debate procedure and etiquette – Tips for effective debate.	In groups, students listen to a podcast/interview with a youth counsellor discussing issues like bullying, drug abuse, or cheating In pairs, identify and rewrite sentences using modals, passive voice, conditionals, connectors, emphatic structures, and reported speech for clarity and persuasiveness. Create a word bank on anti-social behaviours and civic responsibility; use vocabulary in sentences and short persuasive statements. Plan and write an argumentative essay on a chosen anti-social behaviour, applying correct grammar structures and logical organisation.
--	---	--	--	--

			Language structures: -Modal Verbs (must, should, ought to, need to) – to express obligation, advice, and persuasion. Example: "We must work together to fight corruption." -Passive Voice – to make statements formal and objective. Example: "Drug abuse should be discouraged in all schools." -Complex Sentences – using subordinating conjunctions (because, although, since, whereas) to show relationships between ideas. Example: "Although many blame the youth, society as a whole shares responsibility."	Participate in a class debate on anti-social issues, presenting reasoned arguments with evidence and formal tone. Listen to interviews or podcasts on anti-social behaviours; take notes and report findings using reported speech and polite expressions. Write a formal letter, memo, or notice addressing a community issue, applying formal tone and grammatical accuracy. Enact and discuss scenarios on anti-social behaviours, proposing solutions and reflecting on civic and ethical responsibilities.
--	--	--	---	---

			-Connectors and Linking Words – to organise ideas logically (however, therefore, moreover, in addition, as a result, on the other hand, in conclusion). Example: "Peer influence is a problem; however, it can be reduced through awareness." -Rhetorical and question forms – to engage the audience and provoke thought. Example: "Who among us wants to live in a community ruled by crime?" -Nominalisation – to create a formal, academic tone by turning verbs into nouns. Example: "The reduction of violence requires education."
--	--	--	--	--

			-Emphatic Structures and Inversion – to give strength and focus to key ideas. Example: "It is respect and honesty that build peaceful communities." Example: "Never before have we needed unity as we do now." -Polite and Hedging Expressions – to agree or disagree respectfully (I think, I believe, I see your point, but...). Example: "I see your point, but I believe education is more effective than punishment." -Emphatic Auxiliaries (do, does, did) – to strengthen statements in speech or writing.
--	--	--	---	--

			Argumentative writing: – Planning and outlining arguments. – Writing strong topic sentences. – Supporting ideas with facts, examples, and quotations. – Editing for clarity, coherence, and logical flow Writing for communication for community issues
--	--	--	---	--

Link to other subjects:

General studies and religious education: Understanding the impact of anti-social behaviour and promoting civic responsibility, Psychology: Exploring human behaviour, peer influence, and social consequences.

Assessment criteria: can identify and analyse anti-social behaviours in texts, can use grammar and language structures accurately in speech and writing, can write and debate with clarity, coherence, and convincing arguments, can actively participate in debates, role-plays, and group discussions, and can demonstrate ethical reasoning, civic awareness, and positive values.

Teaching and learning materials: Selected short stories or extracts addressing anti-social behaviours, audio recordings of interviews, podcasts, or speeches, flashcards or word banks for vocabulary development, ICT resources for researching anti-social behaviours and drafting written texts.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about friendship and values
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 3: Friendship and values		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Unit 3: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about friendship and human values through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing, using appropriate language structures while demonstrating empathy, respect, and cooperation.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify the key features of a poem (tone, rhythm, persona, and message).	Read, interpret, and analyse poems for literal and figurative meaning.	Appreciate the importance of friendship, empathy, and respect.	Language Use Reading Values in friendship Selected poems about friendship, love or values among people. Listening Importance of friendship Speaking Traditional vs modern values	Students brainstorm and share examples of friendship, love, and values from personal and community experiences, linking them to the importance of human values in society. Students read and discuss selected poems on friendship and love, identifying main themes, messages, emotions, persona, tone, and context.
Identify poetic devices and their meanings.	Create original poems or about friendship and values.	Demonstrate kindness, loyalty, and ethical behaviour in interpersonal interactions.
Describe different forms of poetry and their purposes.	Apply appropriate grammar structures in both written and spoken contexts.

Recognise and use adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, and relative clauses accurately in describing relationships and emotions.	Express ideas clearly and creatively with appropriate tone and style.	Reflect on moral lessons derived from poems.	Language structure: 1.Adjectives and adverbs for description: To express qualities, emotions, and intensity in poems. Example: "True friendship is pure and everlasting." 2.Prepositions for relationship and emotion: To describe bonds, connections, and feelings. Example: "He stood by his friend through every hardship." 3.Relative clauses (who, which, that...): To add detail and describe people, qualities, or objects. Example: "A friend who listens is a blessing."	Individually, students listen to a poem such as "A Friend" or "Kindness" read aloud with emotion and rhythm. They identify rhyming words, repeated sounds, and the message about friendship or values. In pairs, students identify and explain figurative language and sound devices in poems, showing how they enhance meaning and emotion. Students analyse sentences from poems to practice adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, and relative clauses, then create new sentences describing emotions and relationships.
--	---	--	---	--

			Writing Creative writing Literature: • Literal vs literary meaning • Persona vs poet • Context, themes, and messages • Figurative language (simile, metaphor, personification, symbolism) • Sound and musical devices (alliteration, assonance, consonance, repetition, onomatopoeia) • Poetic forms: Elegy, Satirical poetry, Epic poetry, Free verse	In groups, students build a vocabulary bank on friendship and values and use new words in dialogues, sentences, and slogans to express ideas creatively. Students compose original poems on friendship, love, or moral values, applying figurative language, sound devices, and descriptive grammar. Students recite their poems individually or in pairs, focusing on tone, rhythm, and clarity, with peer and teacher feedback on presentation skills. In groups, students compare two poems, identifying similarities and differences in themes and devices, and relate lessons to real-life values and ethics.
--	--	--	---	--

				Students write short reflective paragraphs linking poetry themes to personal experiences and civic responsibility. Students collaborate in class poetry performances, reading or presenting original or selected poems to demonstrate understanding, creativity, and communication skills. PROJECT: Friendship Through Creative Expression (Units 3 & 9 – Friendship and Values / Gender Equity and Empowerment) Students analyse poems and short dramas about friendship, equality, and respect.
--	--	--	--	--

				In small groups, they write and perform short dramatic scenes or poetic dialogues celebrating positive values and gender equity. The project develops students' pronunciation, performance skills, and awareness of empathy, equality, and inclusivity.
Link to other subjects: Kinyarwanda:
History and Citizenship, General Studies and Religious Education: Relating poems to moral and ethical values.
Assessment criteria: can interpret poems and identify themes, messages, and literary devices, can use adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, and relative clauses accurately and creatively, can compose original poems or texts with clarity, creativity, and coherence, can recite and present poems with confidence, tone, and clarity, and can reflect on personal values and ethical understanding derived from literature.
Teaching and learning materials: Selected poems about friendship and human values, audio recordings of poetry recitations, flashcards or word banks for vocabulary development, visual aids or illustrations to complement creative writing.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area:
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 4: Justice and human dignity		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about justice, fairness, and human dignity through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing, using appropriate language structures while demonstrating creativity, critical thinking, and ethical awareness.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify key features of African drama, including plot, characters, message, and dramatic devices. Recognise and use grammar structures to construct and interpret dialogues, monologues, and narrative sequences.	Read, interpret, and analyse extracts from African plays. Write short dramatic scenes or dialogues that express justice or moral conflict. Use appropriate sentence types, punctuation, and grammar to show tone, emotion, and motivation.	Promote justice, equality, and respect for human dignity in everyday life. Appreciate literature as a mirror of social and moral realities. Show empathy, courage, and fairness when discussing or performing dramatic situations.	Language in Use Reading Justice, corruption and human rights Reading and comprehension of extracts from selected plays about justice and human dignity Listening Facing injustice Speaking Fighting injustice	Students discuss the meaning of justice and human dignity in their community, sharing real-life examples of fairness and equality. In groups, students read extracts from African plays on justice, corruption, or human rights, identifying main ideas, themes, and moral messages.

Explain themes of justice, equality, and dignity as portrayed in selected plays.	Perform and discuss scenes, using expressive language and body gestures effectively.		Language structure Direct and reported speech: To construct and interpret dialogues and monologues in drama. Example: Direct: "We must fight injustice," said the leader. Reported: The leader said that they had to fight injustice. Phrasal verbs and idiomatic expressions: To capture natural speech and everyday interactions between characters. Example: "The judge turned down the request for release."	In pairs, students. Analyse dramatic elements such as characters, plot, dialogue, irony, and symbolism, linking them to justice and moral conflicts. In groups, students listen to a short recorded dialogue from a play where a character faces injustice or defends another person. They identify the characters, conflict, and moral lesson. Students identify and use expressions of cause, effect, contrast, and concession in drama to explain moral lessons.
--	--	--	---	--

			Sentence types and punctuation in dialogue: Using declarative, interrogative, exclamatory, and imperative sentences to show character emotion and tone. Example: "How can we remain silent!" / "Stand up for your rights." Relative and adverbial clauses for description and motivation: To describe characters, settings, and causes of actions. Example: "The man who betrayed his people later sought forgiveness." Example: "They acted because they believed in justice."	Students practice direct and reported speech by converting and using them in short role-plays about justice. Students write short dialogues or monologues using varied sentence types to show tone, emotion, and persuasion. Individually, students explore and apply phrasal verbs, idiomatic expressions, participles, and clauses to describe characters and situations of justice.
--	--	--	---	---

			Expressions of cause and effect: To explain motivations and consequences in dramatic events. Example: "He was punished because he broke the law." Example: "As a result, the village regained peace." Expressions of contrast and concession: To reflect irony, moral conflict, and opposing views. Example: "Although he was poor, he remained honest." Example: "Whereas others feared, she stood firm."	In groups, students perform short dramatic scenes illustrating justice or human dignity, using modals, emphatic, and inversion structures effectively. Students reflect on themes and moral lessons from plays, connecting them to real-life fairness and respect. Students write short reflective paragraphs or journal entries on the meaning of justice and dignity and how drama promotes these values.
--	--	--	--	--

			Participles and participial phrases: To create vivid stage descriptions and character actions. Example: "Rising slowly, the elder pointed to the accused." Emphatic and inversion structures (for dramatic emphasis): To highlight emotional or moral turning points in drama. Example: "Never again will the innocent suffer in silence." Writing!! Literature Key features In African Drama: -Characters and characterization -Message	PROJECT: Voices of a nation (Units 1 & 4 – Patriotism / Justice and Human Dignity) Students research inspiring Rwandan or African figures who fought for justice or national unity. They read and listen to selected speeches, then work in groups to write and deliver their own persuasive speeches on a national issue (e.g., youth participation in governance). The project culminates in a class "Public Speech Day" where students perform and reflect on their use of rhetorical devices and emotive language.
--	--	--	--	---

			-Elements of plot -Dramatic devices (irony, symbolism, etc) -Common themes in African drama
--	--	--	---	--

Link to other subjects:

Entrepreneurship, General Studies and Religious Education: Promoting justice, fairness, and respect for human rights, History: Understanding social justice movements and struggles for freedom,

Assessment criteria: can read, interpret, and analyse dramatic texts on justice and human dignity, can use grammar structures such as direct and reported speech, clauses, inversion, and participles accurately and creatively, can write short dramatic scenes or reflective texts with coherence and creativity, can perform effectively using clear tone, gestures, and emotional expression, and can demonstrate moral understanding and appreciation of fairness and human dignity.

Teaching and learning materials: Extracts from African plays or short scripts on justice and equality, flashcards of idioms, phrasal verbs, and connectors, audio or video recordings of drama performances, props or simple costumes for role-play and performance.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area:
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 5: Traditions and change		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about traditions and change through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing in the study of African literary works from different historical periods, using appropriate language structures while demonstrating cultural awareness and critical reflection.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Describe key features, themes, and messages in selected African literary works from pre-colonial, colonial, and post-colonial periods. Recognise how traditions and social values evolve over time as reflected in literature.	Read and interpret extracts from stories that reflect African traditions and their transformation. Use correct grammar (past tenses, expressions of habit, and defining/non-defining clauses) to narrate traditional stories and describe cultural changes.	Appreciate African traditions and their role in shaping identity and values. Respect cultural diversity and continuity while embracing positive change. Show pride in African literary heritage and recognise its influence on modern society.	Language in Use Reading Cultural practices Reading and comprehension of extracts form selected stories reflecting African literary traditions in different periods Listening Cultural change Speaking	Students discuss the meaning of tradition and share stories of cultural practices that have changed or disappeared in their communities. Students read extracts from African literary works (Mwindo Epic, The River Between, Things Fall Apart) to explore African identity, beliefs, and effects of change.

Use various past tenses and expressions that describe beliefs, customs, and habitual practices.	Compare and contrast different literary periods and their portrayals of African society. Write short narratives, summaries, or reflections that show the link between cultural traditions and modern life. Present orally on traditional customs and their relevance today.		Traditional beliefs and change Language structure Past tenses: Simple Past, Past Continuous, Past Perfect — for recounting myths, legends, and folktales in sequence. Example: "The elders told stories as the fire burned, and the moon had risen high." Expressions of belief, habit, and custom: used to, would, always, often — for describing traditions and past practices.	Students listen as classmates narrate short traditional or original stories reflecting cultural change. They note the main events, traditional values, and changes portrayed. Students identify key themes, messages, genres, and analyse characters, settings, and events reflecting traditions and adaptations across historical periods. Students construct sentences and paragraphs using past tenses and expressions of belief or habit to recount traditional events. In pairs, students create and share short oral or written narratives retelling local myths, legends, or folktales, applying correct sequencing and grammar.
--	--	--	--	--

			Example: "People used to gather under the big tree to share stories." Defining and non-defining clauses: To clarify and elaborate on cultural ideas. Example: Respect for elders, which is deeply valued in our culture, teaches humility. Writing Essay structure Literature Major periods of African Literary Tradition: • Pre-colonial: Mwindo Epic – genres, themes, messages	Students practice defining and non-defining relative clauses to explain cultural ideas and link them to reading texts. As a class, students discuss the impact of change on traditions, reflecting on which values to preserve and which changes improve community life. Students write reflective paragraphs or comparative essays showing how African traditions have evolved while maintaining their essence. Students perform short presentations or dramatised retellings of traditional stories, illustrating both old and modern versions to demonstrate cultural identity and adaptation.
--	--	--	---	---

			• Colonial: The River Between – genres, themes, messages • Post-colonial: Things Fall Apart – genres, themes, messages
Link to other subjects: General Studies and Religious Education: Understanding traditional beliefs and cultural evolution, History: Exploring African societies before, during, and after colonisation. Assessment criteria: can use past tenses and expressions of habit accurately in writing and speaking, can interpret and analyse themes and messages in African literary texts, can use defining and non-defining clauses clearly to express cultural ideas, can retell or dramatise traditional stories with creativity and clarity, and can demonstrate appreciation and respect for African cultural heritage and positive social change. Teaching and learning materials: Extracts from Mwindo Epic, The River Between, and Things Fall Apart, Local folktales or oral stories collected from elders, audio or video materials of traditional storytelling sessions.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about environment
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 6: Environment		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about environmental protection through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing, while demonstrating responsibility, collaboration, and problem-solving skills.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Explain environmental issues and actions for protection and sustainability. Recognise and use appropriate formal and polite expressions in written and spoken communication.	Interpret an article or open letter about environmental protection and Summarise key ideas. Write official documents related to environmental awareness or action using correct structure and tone. Use modal verbs to express obligation, advice, or recommendations.	Demonstrate responsibility and initiative in environmental protection activities. Show respect, courtesy, and professionalism in formal communication. Appreciate the importance of collective community action in maintaining a clean and healthy environment.	Language use Reading Talking about environmental protection Reading and comprehension of an article or open letter to the newspaper about environmental protection and community action	Students observe their school and community environment, identify problems such as littering or deforestation, and discuss causes and solutions in groups. Students read an article or open letter on environmental protection, identifying main ideas, supporting details, tone, and use of formal and polite expressions.

Recognise the format, language, and purpose of different types of official documents (letters, reports, notices, memoranda, minutes, and CVs). Recognise the correct punctuation and sentence structure in formal writing.	Construct conditional sentences to propose possible solutions to environmental problems. Present ideas clearly and persuasively in discussions or debates on environmental conservation.		Listening Renewable resources and sustainable development. Speaking Talking about climate change and environmental conservation Language structure Formal and polite expressions: would like to, kindly, please, could you, I am writing to... Example: I would like to request permission to hold an environment awareness day.	Students listen to the teacher reading a newspaper article or playing an audio clip about deforestation, waste management, or water conservation. Students fill in a chart showing problem, cause, effect, and solution. In pairs, students write short paragraphs using formal expressions (e.g., would like to, kindly, please) and practice oral presentation for tone and accuracy. Students review and apply modals for obligation and advice (must, should, have to, need to, ought to) to make recommendations on environmental issues.
--	--	--	---	--

			Modals for obligation and advice: must, should, have to, need to, ought to — used in recommendations or reports. Example: We should plant more trees to reduce erosion. Conditional sentences for recommendations: Type 1 and 2 for expressing cause and consequence. Example: If we re-use plastic bottles, we will reduce waste Writing. Punctuation in formal writing commas, colons, bullet points, and capitalization	Students practice conditional sentences (Type 1 and Type 2) to express cause and consequence related to environmental topics. In groups, students draft official documents on environmental topics, including letters, notices, reports, minutes of meetings, memoranda, and CVs, applying correct format, structure, tone, and punctuation. Students edit documents in pairs or groups to ensure clarity and accuracy. Students participate in role-plays simulating community meetings on environmental issues, presenting resolutions using formal expressions and modals.
--	--	--	---	---

			Official documents: – Official letter – Curriculum Vitae – Report – Minutes of a meeting – Memorandum – Notice	Students write short formal reflections or letters Summarising what they learned about environmental responsibility and how to apply it in their community.
Link to other subjects: Geography and Environment studies: Environmental care, waste management, and recycling.
Assessment criteria: can read and interpret texts about environmental protection, can use correct structure and tone in writing official documents, can apply modal verbs, conditional sentences, and polite expressions accurately, can use punctuation and layout correctly in formal writing, and can demonstrate responsible attitudes.towards environmental care and community action
Teaching and learning materials: Sample articles or letters on environmental issues, audio or video clips on environmental campaigns, school or community environment for practical observation.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about technology
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 7: Technology		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about the influence of technology on our life through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing, using appropriate language structures while demonstrating critical thinking and responsible citizenship.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify the main ideas, purposes, and characteristics of non-fiction texts. Distinguish between fiction and non-fiction literary works. Recognise and appropriately use grammatical structures such as relative clauses, reported speech, modals for possibility and prediction, and linking words of cause and effect.	Interpret non-fiction texts such as articles, essays, and reports on technological impact. Summarise and report ideas from sources using reported speech. Use linking words to show cause-and-effect relationships in speech and writing.	Appreciate the importance of using technology responsibly and ethically. Show curiosity, innovation, and critical thinking toward technological advancement. Value traditional knowledge while embracing modern solutions for development.	Language in Use Reading Talking about digital innovation Reading and interpretation of selected non-fiction texts (articles, essays, reports, or excerpts) that explore how technology shapes agriculture, education, and social behaviour.	Students brainstorm examples of technologies they use daily at school or home and discuss how these tools influence learning and community life The teacher introduces key vocabulary related to technology such as device, innovation, application, automation, and digital tools.

Explain how technology influences different aspects of life including education, agriculture, and communication.	Construct sentences with relative clauses to describe technological tools and innovations. Write and present short analytical or reflective paragraphs about technology and society. Engage in group discussions, debates, and presentations about both the benefits and challenges of technology.		Listening Talking about online safety Speaking Pros and cons about the use of artificial intelligence Language structure Relative clauses: to describe tools or innovations (e.g., The device which connects people worldwide...) Reported speech: To summarise statements or interviews from texts (e.g., The author stated that technology has improved access to education.).	Students read a non-fiction article or essay on how technology is transforming education or agriculture and identify main ideas, supporting details, and author's opinion then discuss understanding in small groups. Students listen to a news story or interview about new technology (e.g., social media, AI, or digital learning). They identify advantages, disadvantages, and the speaker's opinion. Students practice using relative clauses to describe innovations or tools and rewrite simple sentences using relative pronouns who, which, that, whose, where...
---	---	--	--	---

			Use of modal verbs (for possibility and prediction): (e.g., Technology might replace some traditional jobs in the future.) Linking words of cause and effect: (e.g., because of, therefore, as a result, consequently). Writing Paragraph and short essay writing Literature Non-Fiction -Characteristics of non-fiction texts -Difference between fiction and non-fiction	In pairs, students practice reported speech by rewriting expert statements or interview excerpts and exchange sentences for peer correction under teacher guidance. Students apply modal verbs for prediction and possibility such as might, could, may, will in short oral or written reflections about the future of technology in Rwanda. Students study linking words of cause and effect and use them to write short analytical paragraphs explaining how technology affects daily life.
--	--	--	--	--

			-Types of non-fiction literary works -Key strategies to interpret non-fiction literary work	In groups, students explore non-fiction as a literary form, identifying purpose, audience, message, and how facts and opinions are balanced while discussing strategies for interpreting non-fiction. Students participate in a group debate or panel discussion on a real-life technology issue, preparing arguments using modal verbs, linking words, and reported ideas while the teacher moderates and provides feedback.
--	--	--	---	---

				Students individually write a short report or essay summarising how technology has influenced one sector using correct grammar, formal tone, and connectors of cause and effect then exchange drafts for peer editing and share final reflections orally.
Link to other subjects: ICT: Understanding digital tools, applications, and safe technology use
Assessment criteria: Can read, analyse, and interpret non-fiction texts accurately, can use relative clauses, reported speech, modals for prediction, and linking words of cause and effect appropriately, can express ideas clearly and coherently in oral and written communication, can demonstrate understanding of non-fiction features and key differences from fiction, and can show a responsible and critical attitude toward technology and its impact on society.
Teaching and learning materials: Non-fiction texts (articles, reports, essays, interviews) on technology, audio/video clips or infographics on technological innovation, computers or smartphones for practical reading and writing tasks.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about media and digital communication
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 8: Media and digital communication		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas about media and digital content through effective listening, speaking, reading and writing skills, while applying clarity, accuracy and ethical communication.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify different types of media and their roles in communication. Explain the processes of creating, sharing, and interpreting media content. Recognize key features of non-fiction and media texts such as reports, articles, blogs, and press releases.	Read, analyse, and interpret media-based texts critically. Create structured media content such as news reports, blog posts, and press releases.	Demonstrate honesty, accuracy, and objectivity when sharing or reporting information. Appreciate the power of media as a tool for education and social change.	Language in Use Reading Social media influence Reading and comprehension of non-fiction and media-based texts that illustrate how information is created, shared, and interpreted in today's world.	Students share how they get daily news and brainstorm types of media, discussing their influence while the teacher introduces key vocabulary such as headline, report, blog, caption, credibility, bias, and publication.

Use language structures like active/passive voice, direct/indirect speech, connectors, and emphatic structures to write accurately and professionally.	Report and quote information accurately using appropriate grammatical structures. Use punctuation effectively to enhance clarity and credibility. Evaluate written and digital media for clarity, bias, and credibility. Participate in discussions, debates, and oral presentations on media ethics and digital communication	Use digital media responsibly, ethically, and safely. Show teamwork and creativity in producing collaborative media content.	Listening Media bias Speaking Misinformation and responsible communication Language structures Direct and indirect speech: for quoting and reporting information accurately in news and interviews. Example: The reporter said that the community would begin the cleanup next week. Active and passive voice: to adjust focus and maintain objectivity in reports. Example: The campaign was launched by the youth association.	Students read a non-fiction media text and identify main ideas, supporting details, and author's tone, then discuss in pairs whether the article is objective or biased while the teacher guides evaluation of clarity, bias, and credibility. Listen to a conversation between friends discussing how they use phones, social media, or the internet to communicate, then answer simple questions. In pairs, students practice converting sentences between direct and reported speech using excerpts from interviews or news reports and share examples aloud with teacher guidance.
---	--	--	--	---

			Connectors of contrast and addition: (however, moreover, in addition, whereas) to organize ideas clearly in articles and blogs. Adjectives and adverbs of manner: to express precision and tone in digital or written communication. Example: The journalist spoke calmly and objectively. Punctuation for quotation and emphasis: correct use of quotation marks, commas, and colons when citing or emphasising statements.	In groups, students rewrite paragraphs from active to passive voice to make reports more formal and objective. Students practice connectors of contrast and addition by analysing journalist paragraphs and completing exercises to ensure cohesion. In pairs, students identify and use adjectives and adverbs of manner to describe how information is presented, discussing how journalists or bloggers should communicate. Students practice punctuation for quotations and emphasis, integrating quotes properly using commas, quotation marks, and colons.
--	--	--	---	--

			Emphatic structures / Inversion: used to give emphasis to strong statements in reports or news. Examples: • Never before have we witnessed such widespread misinformation. • Rarely does a report attract so much attention. (Typical forms: never, rarely, hardly, only then, little, not until... + inversion of auxiliary + subject + main verb.) Modal Verbs for Advice/ Recommendation: (should, ought to, must, need to) used to express professional and ethical responsibility in media communication.	Students compose short news sentences using emphatic structures and inversion, sharing aloud for feedback. Students discuss ethical responsibilities of media professionals and practice modal verbs for advice or recommendation, creating classroom guidelines for responsible digital communication. In groups, students plan and create media content on topics such as environmental awareness or school achievements, producing news reports, blog posts, or press releases with correct structure, captions, and tone.
--	--	--	--	--

			Example: Journalists should verify all facts before publishing a story. Writing Types of media Creating media and digital content: • Writing and reporting news • Writing press releases and blog posts Structuring media content for readability: headlines, subheadings, captions, paragraphs Evaluating clarity, bias, and credibility in written media content	Groups share their media products in a short media fair presentation, explaining how they ensured accuracy and objectivity while the class evaluates clarity and credibility. Students write individual reflections on how responsible media use can promote social harmony, with teacher feedback on grammar, coherence, and content. PROJECT: Digital Voices for Change (Units 7 & 8 – Technology / Media and Digital Communication) Students investigate how media and technology influence society today.
--	--	--	--	--

				They analyse online articles or blog posts, discuss ethics in digital communication, and collaborate to produce a digital newsletter or podcast episode highlighting positive technological impacts in Rwanda. The project integrates reading, writing, speaking, and ICT skills while reinforcing responsible digital citizenship.
--	--	--	--	---

Link to other subjects:

ICT: Use of digital tools for creating and sharing content, Entrepreneurship: Understanding media and communication in marketing and public relations

Assessment criteria: Can analyse and interpret media and non-fiction texts, can use correct structures such as direct and indirect speech, active and passive voice, connectors, emphatic forms, and modals, can produce coherent and ethical media or digital content, can participate actively and responsibly in discussions and group productions, and can demonstrate critical thinking and ethical understanding of media influence.

Teaching and learning materials: Newspapers, magazines, or printed articles, internet-accessed blog posts or press releases, audio or video news clips, computers, tablets, or smartphones for digital writing tasks.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about Gender equity and empowerment
S5: Languages Pathway		Unit 9: Gender equity and empowerment		Nº of Periods: 21
Key Unit Competence: Critically analyse and communicate ideas on promoting gender equity and empowerment through effective listening, speaking, reading, and writing using appropriate language structures while demonstrating respect, creativity, and social awareness.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Explain the concept of gender equity and empowerment. Describe how dramatic texts portray gender issues, roles, and equality. Describe key features of a dramatic script such as plot, setting, conflict, and dialogue.	Read and interpret dramatic extracts, dialogues, and scripts related to gender issues. Write short dramatic scenes or dialogues that promote equity and mutual respect.	Respect and value both genders equally in communication and daily life. Show empathy and fairness in interactions with others.	Language in Use Reading Gender roles Reading and interpretation of dramatic extracts, dialogues, or scripts that explore gender equity and empowerment, highlighting how drama can challenge inequality, portray strong male and female characters, and promote fairness and respect.	Students discuss the meaning of gender equity and empowerment and brainstorm examples of fair cooperation in families, schools, and communities while the teacher introduces key terms such as equity, empowerment, respect, fairness, discrimination, equality, opportunity, and stereotype.

Use grammatical structures like reported speech, conditional sentences, and emotional expressions appropriately in creative writing. Recognise how drama can be used to challenge inequality and promote fairness, respect, and empowerment.	Use reported speech, conditionals, and emotional expressions to convey meaning and reflection. Perform dramatic scenes to express key messages on gender empowerment. Analyse themes, characters, and conflicts in plays that address gender fairness. Express opinions confidently and respectfully in discussions on gender-related topics.	Develop confidence to stand against gender bias or discrimination. Appreciate drama as a tool for promoting equality, empowerment, and positive social change	Listening Equal opportunities Speaking Converting discrimination Language structure Expressing Emotion and Emphasis in Dramatic Writing Reported Speech (Advanced Forms): for reporting characters' words or Summarising dialogue in scripts. Example: She said she would never accept unfair treatment again. Conditional Sentences (Types 1–3 and Mixed): to express possibilities, causes, and imagined situations in conflict or resolution. "If only" / "I wish" Structures – for emotion, regret, and reflection.	Students read a short dramatic extract or dialogue portraying unfair treatment and resolution, identify main characters, conflict, setting, and message in pairs, and discuss as a class how the story promotes gender equity. Students listen to a shortrecorded scene showing a workplace, classroom, or family situation about equal rights or leadership. They identify the conflict, feelings of characters, and lesson learned.
--	---	---	---	--

				Students review elements of a script including title, characters, setting, stage directions, and dialogue using a sample excerpt and identify how conflict and theme are developed and resolved by both male and female characters. Students analyse expressions of emotion and emphasis in dramatic writing and act out short lines showing anger, regret, or hope using voice and expression. In pairs, students practice advanced reported speech by converting dialogue lines from the drama into reported forms and share answers with the class.
--	--	--	--	---

			Example: If only men and women worked together equally, society would progress faster. Writing Drama writing Literature Drama writing techniques: – Elements of a script – Plot structure – Characters – Setting – Conflict – Themes – Dramatic techniques in writing	Students practice conditional sentences (Types 1–3 and mixed) to express possibilities, causes, and imagined situations and create short lines or scenes showing cause and result within gender-related contexts. Students use “If only” and “I wish” structures to express regret or hope and write short group dialogues demonstrating emotion and reflection. In groups, students write a short drama script (2–3 scenes) on themes such as equal opportunities, respect, or women in leadership including title, characters, setting, conflict and resolution, dialogue showing emotion and reported speech, and conditional or reflective expressions.
--	--	--	---	--

		.	Groups present drafts for peer feedback while the teacher guides structure, coherence, grammar, and message. Students rehearse and perform their short plays in front of the class and receive feedback on language use, emotion, and dramatic techniques to convey gender equity and empowerment. Students write a short reflective paragraph on how drama can promote gender equity in society with teacher feedback on grammar, understanding, and expression of fairness and respect.
--	--	---	--

Link to other subjects:

General studies and religious education: Promoting gender equality and human rights, Social Studies: Understanding roles and responsibilities of men and women in society.

Assessment criteria: Can demonstrate understanding of gender equity and empowerment concepts, can analyse and interpret dramatic texts effectively, can use reported speech, conditionals, and expressive language accurately, can write and perform coherent short plays with clear structure and message, can show fairness, confidence, and respect for both genders in discussion and performance.

Teaching and learning materials: Printed dramatic extracts or scripts, audio or video recordings of short plays, props and costumes for dramatisation.

SENIOR SIX

6.4.1 Key Competences at the end of Senior 6

By the end of S6, students should be able to:

Listening:

- Comprehend and critique sophisticated spoken texts including lectures, plays, and academic discussions.
- Identify tone, attitude, and rhetorical strategies in speech.
- Summarise and evaluate information for academic or interpretive purposes.

Speaking:

- Deliver articulate, persuasive, and imaginative oral presentations or performances.
- Analyse, debate, and defend interpretations of complex issues and literary works.
- Use sophisticated language and rhetorical devices effectively.

Reading:

- Critically analyse and evaluate a wide range of texts, including classical and contemporary literature.

- Examine themes, structure, tone, and style to interpret authors' intentions.
- Synthesise ideas from multiple texts and contexts.

Writing:

- Produce advanced analytical, argumentative, and creative writing that demonstrates originality and depth of thought.
- Integrate quotations, evidence, and interpretation effectively.
- Apply advanced control of grammar, cohesion, and style.

Literature:

- Evaluate and compare literary works across periods and genres.
- Analyse deeper meanings, literary devices, and philosophical or social implications.
- Articulate well-reasoned interpretations supported by evidence and critical perspectives.

6.4.2. S6 Units development

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about human ambitions and moral values
S6: Languages		Unit 1: Human ambitions and moral choices		Nº of Periods: 28
Key unit competence: Communicate effectively about human ambitions and moral choices using appropriate language structures while demonstrating confidence, cooperation and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify main ideas, supporting details, and tone in texts about personal goals. Explain the significance of personal goals in daily life.	Read, comprehend, and interpret texts about personal goals. Discuss and analyse ideas about personal goals in pairs or groups. Summarise and present information about personal goals	Appreciate the importance of setting and working towards positive personal goals. Value global literary heritage alongside African literature.	Language use Reading Talking about personal goals Reading and comprehension of a text about personal goals Listening and Writing Responsible decision making	In groups, Read text about personal goals and answer comprehension questions. Listen to teacher or peer readings about personal goals and in pairs identify tone and mood. Rewrite sentences from texts using advanced comparative forms.

Explain the forms and uses of advanced comparative structures, including double comparatives, emphatic comparatives, the... the... correlation, comparatives with modifiers, and irregular comparatives. Recognise how comparatives affect tone and meaning in sentences. Identify the main features and historical context of Classical, Medieval, Renaissance, and Enlightenment literature.	orally and in writing. Apply advanced comparative structures in written and oral exercises. Discuss and evaluate how comparatives enhance meaning and emphasis in communication. Read, summarise, and analyse texts from different European literary periods. Compare themes, characters, and cultural values across African and European texts.	Develop critical thinking and analytical reasoning. Value moral and humanistic lessons that promote integrity, rational thinking, and ethical decision-making. Show curiosity and a reflective attitude toward both African and European cultural expressions.	Speaking: Talking about career aspirations Language structures Advanced comparative structures – Double comparatives – Emphatic comparatives – Comparative + and + comparative – The... the... correlation – Comparatives with modifiers and irregular comparatives.	Discuss how comparative forms affect tone and meaning in sentences about personal goal. Read short summaries or excerpts from European literary periods (Classical, Medieval, Renaissance, Enlightenment) and identify their main features. Discuss the historical and cultural background that influenced each literary period. Match representative authors or works to their respective literary traditions. Compare themes, characters, and values in selected European and African literary works.
---	---	---	---	--

Describe the similarities and differences between African and European literary traditions. Recognise representative authors and works of each European literary period.	Create timelines and presentations illustrating the evolution of European literature. Discuss and present insights on comparative literary traditions in groups.		Literature Features of European literary traditions – Classical Ancient Greek and Latin Literature, – Classical literature, – Medieval Literature (Introduction), – Renaissance Literature (Introduction), – Enlightenment Literature – Comparative study of African and European literary traditions.	Create a visual timeline showing the evolution of European literature from Classical to Enlightenment periods. In groups, prepare short presentations on similarities and differences between African and European literary traditions.
--	--	--	---	---

Link to other subjects: History: European historical periods (Classical to Enlightenment).

Assessment criteria: Assess the students ability to read and interpret extracts from different European literary periods, discuss themes, tone, and stylistic devices in oral and written form, write clear, coherent comparative essays on literary themes and traditions, use advanced comparative structures accurately.

Teaching and learning materials: Extracts from selected European texts, audio recordings of readings, dictionaries.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about moral integrity
S6: Languages Pathway		Unit 2: Moral integrity		Nº of Periods: 28
Key unit competence: Communicate effectively about accountability, moral integrity using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Define moral integrity and understand its importance in personal and societal life. Explain the meaning of accountability and moral integrity in spoken and written texts. Explain the key features of a novel such as themes, plot, setting, characters, tone, and style.	Read texts carefully and analyse examples of moral integrity and resisting temptations. Use appropriate language to talk about accountability and resisting temptations in real-life situations.	Appreciate honesty, integrity, and ethical behaviour. Demonstrate honesty, responsibility, and self-control in daily actions and decisions. Develop a critical attitude toward corruption and moral decay.	Language use Reading Talking about accountability Reading and analysis of texts about moral integrity and resisting temptations. Reading and comprehension of an extract from a set novel about corruption and moral decay.	Reading text about being accountable and answer comprehension questions. Listen to teacher's reading about corruption and answer questions in pairs. Write about effect of corruption to the economy of the country. Creating anti-corruption posters

Identify and describe different stylistic elements and figurative language used in selected novels. Recognise and correctly apply subject–verb agreement in literary analysis. Define and use common literary terms such as motif, exposition, atmosphere, and diction.	Read and analyse extracts from novels critically. Identify and interpret themes, messages, and stylistic devices in literary texts. Apply subject–verb agreement rules accurately in writing and speaking. Write coherent analyses, summaries, and reflections on extracts.	Demonstrate respect for diverse viewpoints in discussions. Foster self-reflection on personal choices and ethical conduct.	Listening Anti-corruption values: Speaking: Responsible citizens Language structure Subject–verb agreement – Singular subjects → singular verbs; – Plural subjects → plural verbs. – Collective nouns, indefinite pronouns. – Two subjects joined by "and" → plural verb. Writing: Effects of corruption to the economy of the country Literature Features of a novel – Themes and messages in a novel	Identify and correct subject–verb agreement errors in short sentences and paragraphs about moral integrity. Construct sentences showing correct agreement between singular and plural subjects and verbs. Write short compositions demonstrating proper use of collective nouns and indefinite pronouns with correct verbs. Participate in a grammar quiz or competition focusing on subject–verb agreement rules. Rewrite a short text about accountability, ensuring all verbs agree with their subjects.
--	---	--	---	--

			– Stylistic elements: diction, tone, mood, atmosphere – Types of characters: protagonist, antagonist, major/minor, round/flat – Plot and setting – Figurative language in novels: simile, metaphor, symbolism, personification in a novel.	PROJECT: The measure of a good life (Units 1, 2 & 3 – Human Ambitions and Moral Choices / Moral Integrity / Rules and Regulations) Description: Students research and present a multimedia reflective portfolio exploring how ambition, moral integrity, and respect for rules shape an individual's life and society. Each student selects a real or fictional figure (from literature, history, or their community) and analyses how that person balanced personal goals with ethical choices.
--	--	--	---	---

				They write a reflective essay, record a short oral presentation or podcast, and design a poster or infographic Summarising their moral lessons learned. Read selected excerpts from novels and identify key features such as plot, setting, and characters. Discuss the main themes and moral messages conveyed in a given novel. Analyse stylistic elements such as diction, tone, mood, and atmosphere in a selected passage. Identify and classify characters as protagonist, antagonist, major, minor, round, or flat.
--	--	--	--	--

				Examine examples of figurative language (simile, metaphor, symbolism, personification) in a novel and explain their effects. Write a short analytical paragraph explaining how the author's style enhances the novel's message. In groups, create a brief presentation illustrating how themes and stylistic features contribute to meaning in a novel.
Link to other subjects: History: Understanding historical context of novels.
Assessment criteria: Can identify and explain thematic and stylistic features of selected novels, compare and contrast novels critically, use correct subject-verb agreement in writing and speaking, demonstrate understanding of literary terms and figurative language, write coherent and well-supported comparative analyses.
Teaching and learning materials: Set novels or extracts, audio recordings of readings, dictionaries

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about rules and regulations
S6: Languages Pathway		Unit 3: Rules and regulations		Nº of Periods:
Key unit competency: Communicate effectively about consequences of breaking rules using appropriate language structures while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Describe the relationship between rules, freedom, and their consequences as shown in a short play. Identify and describe key dramatic elements such as plot, setting, characters, and themes.	Read the short play carefully and interpret the relationship between rules and freedom. Use appropriate language to discuss and express opinions about the consequences of breaking rules.	Develop respect for rules and appreciate the importance of discipline and responsibility in society. Appreciate teamwork and cooperation in performing and rehearsing dramatic scenes.	Language use Reading Talking about consequences of breaking rules Reading a passage about consequences of breaking rules. Reading and comprehension of a short play about rules and freedom. Listening and Writing: National laws	Read text about consequences of breaking rules and answer comprehension questions. Listen to a recorded/ a teacher reading dialogue about rules and freedom and identify the main ideas and opinions expressed by the speakers, then share their understanding in pairs.

Recognise and explain dramatic techniques including dialogue, monologue, soliloquy, stage directions, props, and costumes. Explain the main principles of Stanislavski's System — objectives, obstacles, and actions — in character development. Define and use drama-related vocabulary accurately in oral and written contexts.	Apply dramatic elements and techniques in reading, rehearsing, and performing short scenes. Use Stanislavski's System to interpret and perform characters with appropriate tone, motivation, and emotion. Perform monologues, dialogues, and role-plays demonstrating control of intonation, stress, and projection.	Develop self-confidence, discipline, and respect during performance and peer feedback sessions. Show creativity and open-mindedness in interpreting characters and themes. Value honesty, empathy, and reflection as essential aspects of portraying human emotions and social realities through drama.	Speaking Rules and freedom Language structure Inversion in dramatic language – Subject–Auxiliary inversion – Negative/Restrictive adverbial inversion – Conditional inversion – Comparative/Superlative inversion – Locative inversion Writing: Writing short notice or announcement for noticeboard Literature Key elements of Drama: Plot, Setting, Characters, Themes	In pairs or small groups, role-play a situation showing the consequences of breaking school or community rules. Students write a short notice for a noticeboard (school, community center) about a rule, highlighting its purpose and how it benefits everyone. Read short extracts from familiar plays, identify dramatic elements in the text and analyse examples of dialogue, monologue, and soliloquy from the script. Examine the use of props, costumes, and entrances or exits to create dramatic effects.
--	---	--	--	--

Explain the use of inversion structures used in dramatic and literary language.	Write short dramatic scripts and character profiles showing creativity, structure, and understanding of performance techniques. Construct grammatically correct sentences using inversion for emphasis and stylistic effect in both speech and writing.		Dramatic techniques: Dialogue, Monologue, Soliloquy, Entrance, Exit, Stage Directions, Props, Costumes Application of Stanislavski's System: objectives, obstacles, and actions.	Compare characters' objectives, obstacles, and actions according to Stanislavski's System. In groups, discuss how stage directions, props, and costumes support meaning. As whole class, listen to an audio performance or peer reading of a dramatic scene and identify tone, stress, and emotion. Perform a chosen monologue individually, applying vocal variety and emotion. Compose a monologue showing internal conflict.
---	---	--	---	--

Link to other subjects:

Entrepreneurship: Teamwork, planning, and project presentation. History: Understanding historical settings of plays.

Assessment criteria: Can identify and apply dramatic elements and techniques in performance, use correct intonation, tone, and body language during performance, write short dramatic texts using appropriate language structure, evaluate and give constructive feedback on performances.

Teaching and learning materials: Set books, drama scripts and excerpts, costumes and props, audio-visual materials of stage performances, dictionaries

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about using media
S6: Languages Pathway		Unit 4: Radio and television programmes		Nº of Periods: 28
Key unit competence: Communicate effectively about using media responsible using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain examples of responsible and irresponsible media use. Identify how mood and atmosphere are created in drama through dialogue, stage directions, and character actions.	Read excerpts carefully and interpret the messages about ethical media use. Read and comprehend broadcast excerpts critically. Write scripts for radio and television presentations using appropriate style, tone, and language.	Appreciate the role of media in communicating information and ideas. Demonstrate responsible media habits and apply ethical considerations when engaging with media content. Value teamwork and creativity in scriptwriting and presentation.	Language use Reading: Talking about using media responsibly Reading and comprehension of excerpts from radio and television broadcasts. Writing scripts for Radio and Television presentations.	In groups, read text about using media and answer comprehension questions Read broadcast excerpts and answer comprehension questions. Listen to a short audio or dialogue about using media responsibly and answer comprehension questions. In groups, debate on the impact of radio and television Programmes on peoples' behaviour.

Recognise and correctly use different forms for expressing future actions: Simple future with will, future with going to, present continuous for fixed future, and simple present for scheduled events.	Explain ways to use media responsibly and apply appropriate vocabulary in conversations. Apply future tense structures accurately in writing and speaking. Analyse dramatic texts to determine mood and atmosphere. Analyse, and evaluate how media can influence behavior and society. Deliver oral presentations with clarity, proper intonation, and expression.		Listening: Responsible communication Language structure Expressing future actions – Simple Future with will – Future with going to – Present Continuous for fixed future. – Simple Present with future meaning. Literature – Analysis of mood and atmosphere in drama	Role-play a media interview or talk show discussing responsible use of social and digital media. In groups, write poster describing a radio or TV Programme they watch or listen to and explaining how it influences people's behaviour. Identify and use different forms of expressing future actions in meaningful sentences. Predict future trends in media and technology using will, going to, present continuous, and simple present. Conduct and report a class survey about future plans using correct future forms. Write a short dialogue or paragraph incorporating various ways of expressing the future.
--	--	--	---	---

			– Analysis of how dialogue, stage directions, and actions contribute to mood and atmosphere.	Listen to an audio drama and describe the plot, characters, and atmosphere. Discuss how figurative language helps build tension or atmosphere. In pairs, role-play a scene focusing on emotion and pronunciation. Write a short TV script including character directions and mood description.
--	--	--	--	--

Link to other subjects:

Literature: Reinforces knowledge of dramatic elements, techniques, and characterization. Kinyarwanda / French: Comparison of expressive techniques and storytelling in different languages.

Assessment criteria: Can read and interpret radio or television drama scripts effectively, listen to or watch drama clips and identify key features (mood, tone, setting, message), use drama-related vocabulary and future tense accurately in context, write and perform short drama scripts with clarity and creativity, demonstrate confidence, cooperation, and creative expression during performance.

Teaching and learning materials: Printed or digital radio and TV drama scripts. Audio clips and video recordings. Pictures, flashcards

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about living fairly in the community
S6: Languages Pathway		Unit 5: Living fairly		No of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competency: Communicate effectively about living fairly in the community using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Define equality and illustrate its importance in community life. Identify main ideas, supporting details, and the writer’s opinion in a passage about sharing and caring in the community. Recognise and use expressions for summarising and commenting (e.g., “in brief,” “to sum up,” “the writer suggests…”).	Analyse, and evaluate how equality is promoted or challenged in the community. Summarise stories, plays, and poems accurately and concisely. Write commentaries expressing informed opinions with fairness and clarity.	Exhibit respect for others and practice fairness in community interactions. Demonstrate fairness, objectivity, and respect when interpreting literary works. Appreciate diverse perspectives in African and international literature.	Language use Talking about equality in the community Reading and comprehension of text about equality in the community. Language structure Using all forms of the present tenses – Present Simple – Present Continuous	Read a passage about sharing and caring and answer comprehension questions then identify main ideas, supporting details, and opinions. As a whole class, listen to a dialogue about examples of equality and fairness in the community and answer questions.

Explain how to summarise and comment on literary texts such as novels, poems, and plays.	Present oral summaries and commentaries, demonstrating proper intonation, stress, and organisation. Analyse literary texts critically to identify main ideas, themes, and authorial intent. Apply appropriate vocabulary and language structures in both oral and written communication.	Value accuracy, clarity, and brevity in communication.	– Present Perfect – Present Perfect Continuous Expressions for summarising and commenting: in brief, to sum up, the story shows that..., the writer suggests..., this reveals that... Literature Summarising and making a commentary on novels, poems and play.	In pairs or small groups, students share examples of equality in their community focusing on present tenses. Write a short paragraph or speech describing how young people can promote equality in their communities. Create a poster or slogan encouraging equal opportunities for all members of society. Write a summary of the passage using expressions like "in brief," "to sum up," and "this reveals that..." Read selected extracts from novels, poems, or plays and write concise summaries of their content.
---	---	---	---	--

				Discuss the main themes, characters, and messages in the given literary works. Use appropriate expressions (the story shows that..., the writer suggests...) to make critical comments on texts. In groups, compare how equality or inequality is portrayed in different literary genres. Present short oral commentaries analysing tone, mood, and message in a poem or dramatic scene. PROJECT: The voice behind the screen (Units 4, 5 & 6 – Radio and Television Programmes/ Living Fairly / Life and Nature)
--	--	--	--	--

				Description: Students work in groups to create and record a short radio or TV Programmes (5–7 minutes) addressing a social or environmental issue — such as fairness, equality, or nature conservation. The show should include a script, dialogue, jingles, and narration. They will present the final recording or perform it live before the class or school community as part of a “Student Media Day.”
--	--	--	--	--

Link to other subjects:

History: Summarising historical events and evaluating fairness in accounts. Geography: Commenting on environmental or social issues fairly in reports.

Assessment criteria: Can identify and present the main ideas accurately in oral and written summaries, can use all forms of the present tense correctly and consistently, can provide fair and insightful commentary reflecting understanding of themes and messages.

Teaching and learning materials: Selected stories, plays, and poems from Africa and beyond, flashcards, dictionaries, set books.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about life and nature
S6: Languages		Unit 6: Life and nature		Nº of Periods: 28
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about life and nature using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain different natural resources and their importance as reflected in the poems. Identify and explain the main ideas, imagery, and themes in poems about life and nature. Recognise and define sound devices (alliteration, assonance, consonance, onomatopoeia) and emphasis devices (hyperbole).	Read the text carefully and answer comprehension questions to demonstrate understanding. Analyse and interpret the use of language in poems to convey ideas about nature and resources.	Appreciate the beauty and emotional power of language in describing life and nature. Develop creativity and confidence in expressing feelings through figurative language. Show respect for natural environments as sources of poetic inspiration.	Language use Talking about natural resources Reading a text about natural resources. Reading and comprehension: Poems about Life and Nature. Language structure Use of adjectives and adverbs for descriptions – Adjectives to describe nouns	Read a text about natural resources and answer comprehension questions. Read the poem individually and underline figurative expressions and in pairs, explain the meaning of selected metaphors or similes. Students listen to a talk about different types and uses of natural resources, then identify key ideas.

Recognise the use of irony, sarcasm, oxymoron, paradox, satire, and pun in literary texts. Identify substitution or indirect reference devices (euphemism, metonymy, synecdoche). Recognise personification, anthropomorphism, zoomorphism, and pathetic fallacy in poetry. Explain how adjectives and adverbs enhance description in plain and figurative language.	Read and analyse poems critically for themes, imagery, and figurative devices. Write descriptive poems and paragraphs about life and nature using vivid adjectives, adverbs, and figurative language. Apply sound and literary devices effectively in original writing. Revise and improve descriptive writing to enhance clarity, mood, and imagery.		– Adverbs to modify verbs or adjectives – Combining adjectives and adverbs to form vivid descriptions. – Plain and figurative descriptions. Literature – Sound Devices: alliteration, assonance, consonance, onomatopoeia – Exaggeration or Emphasis Devices: Hyperbole – Irony and Wit: irony, sarcasm, oxymoron, paradox, satire, pun – Substitution or Indirect Reference: euphemism, metonymy, synecdoche	Write a short story, poem, or dialogue that shows how people use or protect natural resources in their community, highlighting the consequences of caring for or misusing those resources. Create a poster, infographic, or public message promoting awareness of natural resources. Identify adjectives and adverbs in texts and explain how they enhance descriptions. Compose sentences combining adjectives and adverbs to create vivid, precise descriptions of natural resources or environmental scenes.
--	---	--	--	---

	Explain the effect of stylistic devices on the reader's perception of mood and meaning.		– Personification and Animal Representation: anthropomorphism, zoomorphism, pathetic fallacy.	Rewrite plain descriptions from a text into figurative descriptions using imaginative adjectives and adverbs. Read and analyse a poem about nature to identify figurative language. Write a short summary of the poem's message and tone. Role-play real-life scenarios where they must discuss and decide how to use natural resources responsibly. Listen to a poem read aloud and in groups, identify sound devices and discuss how they affect rhythm and emotion.
--	--	--	---	--

				Role-play: Perform short lines using ironic or exaggerated tone Brainstorm: List natural objects (sun, rain, river, mountain) and assign each a human trait (personification). Compose short descriptive stanzas using adjectives, adverbs, and figurative expressions. Recite a poem emphasising oral description of natural elements using figurative language (e.g., "The wind danced through the trees). Writing descriptive poems or paragraphs about life and nature using figurative language.
--	--	--	--	--

Link to other subjects: Kinyarwanda / French: Comparing figurative expressions across languages

Assessment criteria: Can identify and interpret different figurative and sound devices in poems, use adjectives and adverbs effectively to create vivid descriptions, compose short descriptive or reflective poems using figurative language, express appreciation for the use of language in poetry and nature-themed texts.

Teaching and learning materials: Pictures of natural scenes to inspire imagery, dictionaries and figurative language charts, printed or digital copies of selected poems about nature.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about weather
S6: Languages		Unit 7: Weather and our daily life		Nº of Periods:
Key Unit Competence: Communicate effectively about weather and its effects using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify different types of weather and explain their effects on daily life as presented in the poem. Identify and explain the main ideas, imagery, and effects of weather in poems. Recognise and define sentence patterns for sensory description: It feels..., It sounds like..., It smells of/like..., It tastes..., It looks....	Read the poem carefully and interpret how weather influences human activities and nature. Describe the impact of weather on daily life using appropriate vocabulary and expressions. Read and recite poems about weather with correct rhythm, tone, and expression.	Appreciate the beauty of poetic language in expressing emotions and experiences. Demonstrate awareness of the influence of weather on daily life and apply practical measures to adapt responsibly. Show interest and enjoyment in reading and writing poems.	Language use Talking about weather and its effects Reading and comprehension about weather and its effects Reading and analysing a poem about weather and its effects on daily life.	In groups, read a text about weather and its effects and answer comprehension questions. Listen to a short weather report discussing different weather conditions and their effects on daily life, afterwards, they answer comprehension questions. Write a report describing a recent weather event and its impact on people, animals, or the environment.

Explain the use of poetic features such as rhyme, rhythm, and meter in a poem. Recognise imagery and sensory language in poems about weather. Describe sentence patterns used to create imagery and emotion in poetry.	Use sensory and descriptive language to talk about weather and its effects on daily life. Write original short poems using imagery, sensory words, and emotional expression. Use appropriate language structures and sentence patterns to make descriptions vivid and meaningful.	Respect others' creative ideas and expressions during poetry sharing or performance. Develop emotional awareness and empathy through poetic expression. Value the connection between weather, emotions, and daily human experiences.	Language structure – Sentence patterns for sensory description: It feels..., It sounds like..., It smells of/like..., it tastes..., it looks... Literature – Poetic features: rhyme, rhythm, and meter – Interpreting the poet's message and tone – Reciting poems – Creating emotions and themes in poetry	Design a poster that illustrates a particular type of weather (e.g., rain, heat, storm) and its effects on daily life In pairs, match adjectives to the correct sense (sight, sound, smell, touch, taste) then create short descriptive phrases about weather using sensory details. PROJECT: Echoes of humanity (Units 7 & 8 – Weather and our daily life / Social interactions)
---	--	---	---	---

				Description: Students compose and perform a poetry anthology or spoken-word performance titled "Echoes of Humanity." The anthology includes original poems inspired by human emotions, nature, or social interactions. Students work in groups or individually to write, edit, and perform their pieces with attention to rhythm, stress, intonation, and emotional tone. A Poetry Performance Day can be organized for final presentations. In pairs, read the given poem silently and aloud with proper rhythm and tone and answer comprehension questions.
--	--	--	--	--

				In groups, discuss the poet's message and emotional tone in a poem. As a whole class, listen attentively to a poem recited by the teacher or peers, and then in small groups, discuss the tone, mood, and message conveyed through the performance. Recite a selected weather poem using correct intonation and emotional expression. Brainstorm weather experiences that inspire emotion (rainy morning, stormy night, sunny day). Write a short poem using sensory images and exchange poems in pairs for peer feedback on imagery and emotion.
--	--	--	--	--

Link to other subjects: Geography: Weather patterns and seasons

Assessment criteria: Can identify poetic features such as rhyme, rhythm, and imagery, use sensory and figurative language to describe weather experiences, recite poems expressively with correct rhythm and intonation, compose poems that communicate emotions and themes about weather.

Teaching and learning materials: Visual aids showing different weather conditions, charts on sensory words and poetic devices, set books.

Topic Area: Oral and Written Communication			Sub-Topic Area: Communicating about social interactions
S6: Languages		Unit 8: Social interactions		Nº of Periods: 35
Key Unit Competency: Communicate effectively about social interactions using appropriate language while demonstrating confidence, cooperation, and respect.
Learning objectives			Content	Learning activities
Knowledge and understanding	Skills	Attitudes and Values
Identify and explain examples of cooperation and effective social interactions in the passages. Identify and distinguish vowel and consonant sounds, including diphthongs and consonant clusters, in social interaction contexts.	Read passages about social interactions and interpret examples of cooperation. Express ideas clearly about ways to cooperate with others and apply appropriate language in social interactions. Pronounce words, phrases, and sentences accurately, using correct vowel and consonant sounds.	Show respect and empathy in communication. Appreciate clarity and politeness in spoken English. Develop confidence in expressing emotions and opinions through speech.	Language use Talking about cooperating with others Reading and comprehension of passages about social interactions (greetings, apologies, requests, compliments, persuasion).	Read and role-play short passages showing social interactions and answer comprehension questions. Read the passage or a dialogue and identify words and expressions showing respect, politeness, or emotion. Students listen to short dialogues of people interacting in everyday social situations (e.g., greetings, helping others, resolving conflicts).

Explain the rules of word stress, sentence stress, rhythm, and intonation in English. Recognise the structure and function of tag questions and rhetorical conditionals in spoken and written English. Explain the effect of stress, rhythm, and intonation on meaning, tone, and emotion. Describe common expressions, vocabulary, and polite forms used in social interactions.	Apply appropriate stress, rhythm, and intonation in reading aloud, dialogues, and short speeches. Use tag questions and rhetorical conditionals correctly in spoken and written interactions. Read, interpret, and respond to social interaction passages, showing comprehension of tone, mood, and attitude. Write short dialogues or speeches reflecting correct social language, stress, and intonation patterns.		Polite expressions and appropriate responses in different social contexts. Language structure Vowel Sounds – Short vs. long vowels – Diphthongs – Minimal pairs Consonant Sounds – Place of articulation: bilabial, labiodental, dental, alveolar, post-alveolar (palato-alveolar), palatal, velar, glottal	Answer comprehension questions Practice minimal pairs through tongue twisters and games. Identify stressed syllables and underline them in given words. Listen to dialogues and mark intonation patterns. Role-play dialogues expressing different emotions (anger, surprise, joy). Participate in pronunciation drills focusing on voiced and voiceless sounds. Form and practice tag questions in short role-plays. Read and analyse rhetorical conditionals from poems and speeches.
---	--	--	---	--

			– Voiced and voiceless consonants – Consonant clusters Word Stress Sentence stress and rhythm Intonation Tag questions Rhetorical conditionals	Create sentences about social interactions using tag questions and rhetorical conditionals. Write and perform short speeches or poems using rhetorical conditionals. Compose short dialogues demonstrating correct word stress, sentence stress, intonation, tag questions, and rhetorical conditionals.
Link to other subjects: Kinyarwanda: Comparison of pronunciation patterns across languages.
Assessment criteria: Can pronounce English sounds accurately and clearly, apply stress, rhythm, and intonation naturally in speech, use tag questions correctly in conversation, create and use rhetorical conditionals appropriately, write and perform dialogues that show appropriate tone and interaction.
Teaching and learning materials: Set books, flash cards, pictures,

APPENDIX

SUBJECTS AND WEEKLY TIME ALLOCATION FOR SINGLE SHIFT IN UPPER SECONDARY-GENERAL EDUCATION (S4-S6)

Languages pathway

Subject	Number of periods
I. Major Core subjects/ Examinable at National Level	(Period= 40 minutes)
	S4	S5	S6
1.English	7	7	7
2. French	7	7	7
3. Kinyarwanda	7	7	7
4. Kiswahili	7	7	7
II. Minor Core Subjects/ Examinable at National Level
5. History	3	3	3
6. Psychology	3	3	3
7. Basic Mathematics	3	3	3
Sub-total 1	37	37	37
III. General Subjects: Examinable at School level
8. ICT	3	3	3
9. Entrepreneurship	3	3	3

10. General and religious Studies	3	3	3
11. Physical Education and Sports	2	2	2
Sub-total 2	11	11	11
III. Co-curricular activities (compulsory)	2	2	2
Total number of contact periods per week	50	50	50
Total number of contact hours/week	33.3	33.3	33.3
Total number of contact hours per year (39 weeks)	1300	1300	1300